NAZI 'SKEETER BOATS RAID ALLIED GUNS PILE UP DEAD

PARIS, May 27—Disregarding the greatest manpower losses of the war, the Nazi war machine today poured in new reinforcements in repeatedly attacking the French-Belgium border.

The French high command declared the Germans were paying a terrific price in troops, but continued to attack in the region of Menin, with reinforcements and without thought of losses.

The Germans were reported to be using "every possible weapon" in an attempt to break allied resistance, but their losses in infantry, tanks and airplanes were described as "enormous."

Withdrawals in the region of Valenciennes also were announced by the Allies. It was stated defenders had withdrawn to "previously prepared positions."

PILES OF THE DEAD

Deadly accuracy of the French "seventy-fives" took a tremendous toll as the Nazi infantry attempted unsuccessfully to pierce allied lines farther west, between the Aisne and Meuse rivers.

Stunned German soldiers wandering into the French positions were said to have confirmed reports that whole companies of Nazi foot troops had been wiped out.

The French said the bodies of Germans were "piled high" between the lines. The French communique added:

"In the north, the enemy is increasing his attacks, particularly at Menin. French and Allied troops are holding his advance.

"Fighting is of extreme violence. The Germans are throwing into battle large and powerfully-armed units without regard to losses. On the Somme and Aisne fronts

THE WAR TODAY—Claims and counter-claims befoged the picture of the war in France today . . . with both Alies and Germany aserting Calais (1) was in their hands . . . the Nazi reporting their spearhead offense was driving north to Gravelines. The the Cambrai-Bapaume sector (2) and Perone-Somme sector (3), Allied counter attacks pinched the German column from 25 to 13 miles in width, while at Vimy (4) the invaders launched a new flanking spearhead north at Lille as they swept south from the Courtrai-Ypres sector toward the same city. Dunkirk (A), Ostend (B) and Zeebrugge (C) faced heavy German bombing . . . with a mosquito fleet of small torpedo boats raiding Ostend.

NEW WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By Associated Press

Allied troops in the Valenciennes sector in northern France withdrew to new prepared positions west of the Escaut (Scheldt) river today as the Germans menaced their left flank with a terrific attack launched "without regard to losses," the high command said.

The Nazi drive, aimed southward along the Lys River Valley, was centered on Menin, 35 miles northwest of Valenciennes, on the French-Belgian frontier.

The Allies hastened to pile up further resistance to Germany's armies after reporting the Nazi drive through France had slowed down—at least temporarily.

The German high command, however, declared that Nazi troops had captured Calais, likely springboard for the attack which the Nazi regime has sworn to make on Britain. The Allies maintained Calais still was in their hands.

Berlin also claimed to have bombed Allied airdromes in the vicinity of Paris and to have scored hits from the air on three warships, a merchant vessel and an 18,000-ton transport.

The Nazis also stressed the activities of their mosquito fleet, announcing these small speedy craft had sunk a destroyer in Ostend harbor and a submarine off Holland.

The French acknowledged the loss of Boulogne but declared the German advance had made no considerable progress for 48 hours. There was a new note of optimism in the attitude of the French high command.

The map of operations showed today that the Allies still were struggling to close the bottleneck of the German salient to the coast by pressing in from Bapaume on the north and Peronne on the south.

CUT OFF ROUTE

The success of such an operation would cut off the route of supplies and reinforcements for the Germans fanning out along the channel coast and at the same time unite the two main Allied armies.

In the operations against the Belgian, French and British troops isolated in Belgium and northern France, the Germans claimed they were drawing a tighter circle, with one Nazi army pressing in northeast of Lille and the other to the southwest. The Germans said these forces were within 18 miles of each other.

The British had a new high commander, just as the French gained one a week ago. Lieut.-General Sir John Greer Dill became chief of the imperial general staff. General Sir Edmund Ironside, who had held that office, was given command of the home force.

HEAVY AIR BLOWS

Heavy blows against the Germans by the Royal Air Force were reported in a series of five communiques yesterday; at the same time, the British announced the loss of the destroyer Wessex in a German air attack.

British sources in Rome declared they were optimistic about prospects of Italy accepting concessions to smooth over the controversy over Allied contraband control in the Mediterranean.

But Italian war preparations went on with undiminished speed.

BERLIN, May 27 (AP)—Sudden blows by swarms of warplanes and high-speed torpedo boats paced Nazi attempts today to score a quick knockout in the English channel.

While German ground forces broke deeply through the Flanders battle line almost to Ypres in a "squeeze" to split the encircled Allied forces in Belgium and northern France, the high command said, warplanes left the waterfront of Dunkirk in flames and the mosquito-like torpedo boats stung the Allies in raids along the channel coast.

The high command credited the speedboats with a daring feat in entering Ostend harbor where, it said, one of them sank a British destroyer. Another was said to have sunk an Allied submarine off Helder, once a Dutch naval base.

2 PRIME NAZI AIMS

The German forces evidently had two objectives:

To dominate the whole French coast of the English Channel—potential springboard for a direct assault on England;

To cut in two the trapped Allied armies before clamping down the stranglehold which they are confident will mean death or surrender of some 1,000,000 French, Belgian and British soldiers in the battle of Flanders and Artois.

Both sides appeared to be pouring all their available resources into the battle. Among extraordinary results was the high command's report that guns of a German tank had set fire to an Allied destroyer in the channel port of Boulogne.

Nazis expected German troops in the northern fighting area from St. Omer eastward and from Courtrai northwestward near Ypres quickly to close the narrow opening of the sack in which the Allies are caught and boasted that "we are now in a position to determine the temper of the war."

PLANES BLAZE TRAIL

The new gains, it was said, have further hemmed in Allied troops in the Artois region.

With the German army reported pushing northward from Calais to threaten the channel ports of Gravelines and Dunkirk, the high command stressed the air force as the Nazi trail blazer.

The Allies said they still held Calais.—Editor's Note.

Air attacks, it said, frustrated British attempts to withdraw parts of their encircled forces by water and left the waterfront of Dunkirk aflame.

ATTACK TRAPPED ARMY

"The severity of the attacks was most effectively centered upon the region wherein the enemy armies are trapped," the communique said.

"German troops attacked northeast of Lens and later attacked, with bloody losses for the enemy, counter-attacks by the French colonial troops."

Heavy tank fighting was indicated. At Boulogne, the high command said, counter gunfire from a German tank which was the target of Allied warships, set one destroyer afire. On the southern front, it reported five of 11 Allied tanks were incapacitated and the others so seriously damaged that their attack foundered.

In the air, the communique said, Nazi fliers achieved these results

Steel Shares Lead Upturn

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Led by steels, selective stock market leaders advanced $1 to $2 a share today.

Dealings were quiet from the start, but gains were well maintained near the second hour.

Prominent on the forward shift were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Boeing, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Lockheed, Anaconda, duPont, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, and Standard Oil of N. J.

Bonds were fairly steady, as were major commodities. "Free" sterling and the French franc held to a narrow course.

Britain Jails 1500 Women in Spy Drive

LONDON, May 27—In a lightning drive, a thousand Scotland Yard detectives rounded up 1500 women enemy aliens today, gave them only time to pack their bags and trucked them off to concentration camps—all within a few hours.

The 1500 arrests were confined to London alone as police throughout the country rounded up hundreds more for internment for the duration of the war.

All women prisoners fell in the "Class B" category as defined in the new enemy alien laws and were arrested following decision of Home Secretary Sir John Anderson to place persons in this class in internment without further re-examination.

Although it was the largest single raid of the day, other police trailed many well known figures who have been implicated, authorities indicated, by documents found in a police raid on the home of Sir Oswalt Mosley, British Fascist leader.

OTHER ARRESTS LOOM

Sensational arrests were promised later in the week as a result of the documents.

Arrests of the women created havoc at breakfast hour in many fashionable sections where great numbers of the German women were employed as domestics.

So quickly were the aliens carted off that many a sleepy Londoner rang in vain for breakfast, only to get up and find that the maid had disappeared.

Children of the detained women were taken with their mothers and will be placed in workhouses in the maternity wards of concentration camps.

Shortly after the arrests were announced, it was revealed that the Isle of Man will serve as a huge camp for all German and Austrian aliens in the class B category between the ages of 16 and 60.

3300 WOMEN HELD

They will be transferred as soon as preparations are completed at the new camp, it was announced.

A total of 3300 women in this class have been rounded up throughout the country, it was officially announced.

Meanwhile it was revealed that Ted Bramley, London Communist leader, was among those taken into custody. Twenty more members

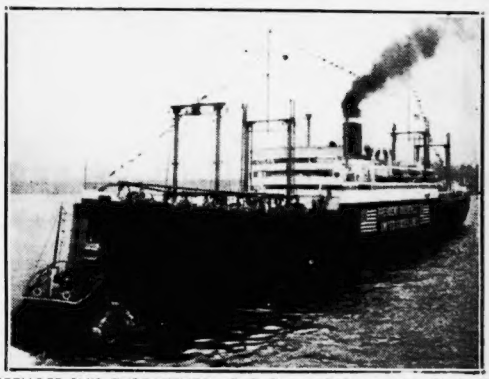
BERLIN REPEATS WARNING ALLIES PERIL U. S. SHIP

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, May 27 (AP)—"A most serious warning" has been given the United States embassy repeatedly in the past two days that the Allies either planned or already had carried out a "criminal attempt" on the American liner President Roosevelt, authorized sources disclosed today.



REFUGEE SHIP THREATENED—S. S. Roosevelt leaves New York for Galway, Ireland, as Berlin reports that the American liner might be attacked by the British to involve the U. S. in the war.

International News Photograph Service

In London a foreign office source said today "No sane man" could accept the warning given the United States charge d'affaires in Berlin that the Allies were planning or already had carried out a "criminal attack" on the liner President Roosevelt.

"In the past," this source said, "it has been the Germany policy to accuse the Allies of doing exactly what the Germans themselves have in mind.

"This story is similar to those which asserted that the British sunk the Athenia and Raeder's warning about the Iroquois."

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder is commander-in-chief of the German navy.—Editor's note.

The German sources said the warnings had been addressed to Alexander C. Kirk, charge d'affaires of the United States embassy.

"Evidence keeps accumulating more and more and hour by hour," they said, "that some sort of manipulation is planned regarding the refugee ship in the hope thereby of drawing the United States into the war.

MORE FACTS EXPECTED

"We hope within a few days, possibly tomorrow, to lay before you concrete facts on just how we warned the American embassy."

In New York, United States Lines officials said they had not been officially informed of the Berlin report that safety of the liner President Roosevelt was threatened, and that they do not plan to radio the master of the ship concerning the report.—Editor's Note.

DNB, official German news agency, revealed that the charge the liner President Roosevelt may be subjected to attack was contained in a dispatch from Boston where it was said this information was obtained "on good authority."

Refugee Boats Jam Channel; 5 Million Caught in Nazi Ring

PARIS, May 27 (INS)—Hundreds of rowboats, sailboats and motorboats—jammed to the gunwales with refugees—roamed the English channel today as the Nazi advance to the coastal ports of France cut off all avenues of escape by the sea for many civilians.

Most of the boats are dangerously overloaded as they bob through the choppy waters, ranging the coast for a port of safety.

From pitiful little dinghys, rotting and unseaworthy, to yachts of the wealthy, they appeared out of the area from Abbeville to Calais in a steady stream.

Rough seas have driven many of them ashore, others have been sunk without record, and some have been rescued in the nick of time by French and British naval vessels.

Most of the larger boats are headed for Le Havre, but the smaller ones, the rowboats and the tiny motorboats, have pointed their prows for anywhere luck will take them so long as it is away from the relentless roar of bombs.

No other news came on the cables today as to the fate of the 5,000,000 civilian population said to be trapped with Allied troops within the German ring of iron.

Berlin had proposed, according to a Saturday dispatch, that these civilians be placed in one zone within the circle and that this zone be established as a non-combatant area.

Meanwhile, although army supplies were reaching the Allies by way of openings still left on the channel, food supplies were believed drastically reduced for families being subjected to all the terrors of warfare.

Cafe Hostess Wins Verdict of $8,750

In a verdict sealed Saturday night and opened today in superior court, Mrs. Dorothy McFaden, Brookline cafe hostess, was awarded $8750 in her $100,000 suit against Robert A. Nordbloom, wealthy Boston realtor, charging assault and battery.

Following reading of the verdict, Trial Judge Jesse W. Morton, in an unusual procedure, said to the jurors:

"I would like to have you answer this question. I will ask the question of the foreman. If you other gentlemen disagree, say so. Did you find, in your deliberations, that Mrs. McFaden went in swimming?"

"Yes," replied the jury foreman, while the other jurors remained silent.

SAID HE HIT HER

After being dismissed, however, the jury foreman went to Judge Morton and said he had been advised by fellow members of the panel that the question had been misunderstood.

The jury, said the foreman, had found in its deliberations, that the defendant, Nordblom, had been in swimming and that the plaintiff, Mrs. McFaden, had never left the yacht cabin.

Judge Morton recalled the jurors into the box and again asked his question:

"Did you find, in your deliberations, that Mrs. McFaden went in swimming?"

This time the jury foreman answered in the negative.

During trial of the suit, Nordblom testified that Mrs. McFaden, while other members of a yachting party were swimming, had stripped off her dress, kicked off her shoes and then had jumped into the water.

The injuries she claimed had been suffered, Nordblom asserted, when others in the party "boosted" her back aboard the yacht and she came in contact with brasswork that bruised and scraped her.

Mrs. McFaden herself denied that she had jumped into the water.

The twice-divorced plaintiff told the jury that Nordblom had beaten her with his firsts, hit her on the head with a bottle and kicked her when she became seasick on the yacht off Cohasset and pleaded to be taken ashore.

MAY APPEAL VERDICT

It was reported today that Nordblom's counsel, George McLaughlin, would ask a new trial or would appeal the verdict to Suprem Court.

According to Nordblom, his friendship for the divorcee continued after the alleged yacht episode. He testified that she called him often on the telephone and sent him telegrams.

One telegram, admitted in evidence, which Nordblom testified he had sent Mrs. McFaden, read as follows:

"Have tried to be sporty on entire matter. Have you? A jockey can only ride one horse in a race. You have tried two or three.

DELIBERATE SNUB

"Your deliberate snub last Saturday broke the last straw. Try honey and cream plus answering the telephone. Still madly in love with you."

A wire which Nordblom said Mrs. McFaden had sent him later read:

"Revenge is sweet. Do not worry. I shall never call."

Coogan Makes Forced Landing

YUMA, Ariz., May 27 (AP)—Jackie Coogan, one-time kid film actor, gave two flying companions an anxious four hours last night with a grown-up exhibition of how to keep your head although lost in the air.

Coogan, Roger Pryor, the actor, and Jimmy Mitchell, a stunt flier, took off from Tucson in the afternoon for Yuma. Pryor and Mitchell missed Coogan about 25 miles east of here in the treacherous Telegraph Pass area, where Aviatrix Marvel Crosson was killed in the 1929 women's air Derby.

They hurried to Yuma and informed Sheriff T. H. Newman of Coogan's disappearance. The sheriff was organizing a searching party when Coogan telephone from Ogilby, Cal., that he had made a forced landing.

Police Slaying to Grand Jury

An indictment for murder was sought today from a special session of the Norfolk county grand jury in connection with the shooting, 10 days ago, of Radio Patrolman William F. Lee of Milton police.

The indictment was sought against Joseph Brooks of New York city on charges that he fatally wounded Patrolman Lee in front of Milton police station.

Indictments on a charge of automobile theft were also sought against Brooks' companions, Armand Papineau, Dwight st., South End, and George Zukauskis, Athens st., South Boston.

For the special session, Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing summoned 18 witnesses.

Housemaid Pleads Guilty in Newton Thefts

In connection with a series of thefts from homes of wealthy Newton and Auburndale residents, a 21-year-old housemaid pleaded guilty to two counts of larceny in Newton court today.

The complaints charged thefts of gold watches from a former employer and from another domestic.

The defendant, Miss Pauline Russo of Crescent st., Waltham, was held in $200 for sentence Saturday.

One of the watches was recovered. Miss Russo said she sold the other one.

The first was taken from Mrs. Dorothy Weston of Groveland st., Auburndale, one of Miss Russo's former employers. Mrs. Weston is a teacher at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale.

The second was stolen from Miss Anita Cassinelli, who worked with Miss Russo at a home in Mill st., Newton Center.

Man Found Killed By N. H. Train

Apparently hit by an outbound New York train in the New Haven railroad yards off Walpole st., Roxbury, an unidentified man was killed today.

His head was severed from his body. Police said the man appeared to have been about 60 to 65 years old.

Railroad yard employes said he had been loitering around the tracks and had been twice warned to leave.

TAYLOR'S VATICAN POST UPHELD

Defense of the appointment of Myron C. Taylor as President Roosevelt's representative at the Vatican was recorded by two leading Catholic churchmen here.

That Taylor's mission is to work for peace and in no way confuses the spheres of Church and State was the stand of the Rev. Michael J. Ahearn, S. J., in his broadcast.

The United States had a representative at the Vatican from 1798 to 1867 and no friction between temporal and physical governments arose, the Rev. James L. Burke, S. J., head of the history department at Boston College, declared.

He was guest speaker at the annual communion breakfast of the Bishop Cheverus General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, at Hotel Somerset.

Fr. Ahern likened the positions of United States representatives in London and the Vatican and said:

"We understand that the relations of the United States to the English Government were to be purely political relations.

"Similarly, we Catholics understand that Mr. Taylor is entrusted with a purely statesmanlike mission, an effort to co-operate in every possible way with what everyone concedes to be a great, if not the greatest, force in the world at the present time working for peace."

Pointing to the advantage of co-operation between Church and State and yet heeding Christ's insistence on a sharp cleavage between their respective jurisdictions, the speaker added:

"Co-operation cannot by any manner of means be considered a union of the government of the United States with the Vatican . . . . It is my considered judgment that the vast majority of the American citizens approve of the mission of Mr. Taylor to the Vatican."

Foley Bares Threat In Market Probe

A phone call by a high city official to a Boston market man, warning him to stick to a previous story denying alleged market graft, was allegedly uncovered today by investigators for Dist. Atty. William J. Foley.

Foley's probe was undertaken following reports that Boston produce men have been victims of a systematic "shakedown" racket.

The information obtained concerning the city official's phone call was turned over to the district attorney by one of his most trusted agents.

The agent said he was told the official called a prominent market man, and left the following message:

"Remember your testimony before the Finance Commission. If you change your story now, you can be held for perjury."

Investigators said the Finance Commission testimony to which the reference was made was an attempted "whitewash" of market graft conditions.

The present investigation was launched after Sen. Joseph Langone of the North End and City Councilor James Coffey of East Boston had complained that graft and corruption had been discovered in connection with the granting of special privileges in Faneuil Hall Market.

The investigation was launched after Sen. Joseph Langone of the North End and City Councilor James Coffey of East Boston had complained that graft and corruption had been discovered in connection with granting of special privileges in Faneuil hall market.

It was declared that so exorbitant were demands that many merchants were driven out of business. One or more city officials were said to be involved, according to statements made at the office of the district attorney.

5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

Rare Treat Is Ahead For Bay State Family

New England's first Typical American Family—the family from Maine—has just completed its cost-free week of exciting vacation at the New York World's Fair of 1940, and today arrived in Boston, still thrilled with the experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Armes of Portland, Me., and their two sons, Richard, nine, and Harold 13, had a marvelous time at the Forty Fair without once cent of expense to themselves.

And exactly the same kind of a time will be had by the Typical American Family in Massachusetts during the week of July 22, with all expenses paid from the time this family leaves Boston until it returns.

OUTFITS, CAR

This family will have no expense even for transportation or for housing in one of the two newly-built FHA model homes on the Fair grounds, homes that have been completely furnished by Sears & Roebuck Co.

In addition, before the Massachusetts family leaves for its trip, the members will be completely outfitted by Sears Roebuck & Co., and to and from New York will be driven in a newest type Ford automobile, furnished, together with a company chauffeur, by the Ford Motor Co.

Elsewhere on this page the simple rules of the contest are printed. There are no other requirements than the few set forth in these rules—and nothing to buy.

Where the Typical American Family in Massachusetts is living, nobody knows yet—and nobody will know until the judges make their selection, as soon as possible after the deadline for entries at midnight, Saturday, June 15.

And remember—in addition to the principal award to the winning family, there are four other World's Fair prizes for the next four families picked as runners-up:

GET ABOARD!

Second prize: Free transportation; round trip, between Boston and New York via New Haven Railroad; free admission to the Fair for three days; free entertainment and free guides—plus $40.

Third prize: Free transportation, via American Airlines; free admission for three days; free entertainment and guides—plus $30.

Fourth prize: Free transportation, via Eastern Steamship Lines cabin and meals free; free admission to the Fair for three days; free entertainment and guides—plus $20.

Fifth prize: Free transportation, via New Haven Railroad between Boston and Providence, and Colonial Steamship Line between Providence and New York; free cabin and meals; plus free admission for three days, free entertainment, free guides and $20 cash.

Here Are Family Contest Rules

These are the rules governing the Typical American Family in Massachusetts Contest:

1—The Typical American Family Competition, conducted by the Boston Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American, in co-operation with the New York World's Fair of 1940, is open only to citizens of the United States residing in Massachusetts.

2—The name and address of each family, with the number of children, boys and girls, must be submitted on the official entry form, together with a letter of not more than 300 words describing the family and explaining why it should be selected as the Typical American Family in Massachusetts. No photographs will be returned.

3—Entries will NOT be judged by the literary style or excellence of the letters submitted, but strictly on the qualifications and characteristics of the family.

4—A recent photograph or clear snapshot of the family must accompany the entry.

5—The entry of a candidate family may be submitted by a relative or friend, or by a member of the family.

6—Entries close on Saturday, June 15, at midnight. The completed form must be mailed or delivered to the Advertiser-American Typical American Family Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass., before that time.

7—The selection of the Typical Family will be made by a committee of distinguished Massachusetts men and women well qualified to establish the requirements of a Typical American Family, and the committee's decision will be final.

8—The parents and two children of the Typical Family selected, the eldest child to be not over 18, will be transported from Boston to the New York World's Fair and back by automobile, with all meals and hotel expenses paid. They will be entertained at the Fair for one week, beginning July 22, without any cost whatever to themselves. The Family, while at the Fair, will live for one week in a completely furnished house built inside the Fair Grounds in accordance with the standards set up for home construction by the Federal Housing Administration. The house accommodates four persons, and for this reason only four members of the Family selected may go to the Fair. The Family will have complete freedom of action as to what they want to do and see. They will, in fact, live each day as they would during any normal holiday period.

9—It is understood that entrants give permission to publish photographs and stories of their Family.

10—This competition is not open to employes of the Boston Sunday Advertiser-Boston Evening American, nor of other publications or advertising media.

Suspects Quizzed In Chelsea Attack

Men with records of sex criminals were questioned in a roundup of Chelsea underworld characters today following an attempted attack on a 5-year-old girl.

A man she described as rough looking and wearing a brown overcoat followed her into the hallway of her home in Pulaar st., Chelsea. There he seized her, she said, but she fought herself free.

Boston Speeds Drive For Red Cross Quota

Volunteer workers of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross today headed for the stretch drive to collect a quota of $300,000 by Saturday and put "Boston Over the Top First" in the nationwide drive for $10,000,000 for war relief.

More than half the local quota or $162,000 has already been collected, but officials pointed out that on the speed of this week's collections hinges sailing of a second ship with food and clothing for refugees.

The accelerated drive was aided by William C. Galvin, president of the Boston City Council, who will confer today with fellow councilors on an organization for collecting in residential districts. A similar meeting has been called by James T. Moriarty, state commissioner of labor and industries, to discuss with 15 labor leaders canvassing their groups.

J. W. Farley, general chairman of the local campaign, presided at today's "Dutch Treat" luncheon and discussed with a record gathering of agents plans for the week's intensive campaign.

"Millions of pounds of food must be rushed to the aid of the 5,000,000 refugees now wandering along the roads and countryside of France, driven from their homes by the German blitzkrieg, if starvation and disease on a large scale are to be avoided.

"Already one Red Cross ship is being rushed across the Atlantic, loaded with the necessities of life, but many more must be sent if these innocent victims of the dread scourge of war are to be saved from disaster," Chairman Farley declared in summoning the Workers to today's meeting.

Clipper, Shrouded By Fog, Alters Route

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP) — Foggy weather forced the westbound trans-Atlantic plane, the American Clipper, to land at her alternate destination, Norfolk, Va., instead of Baltimore, 200 miles away, Pan-American Airways reported.

While the plane, with 18 passengers and a ton of mail, from Lisbon, Portugal, via the Azores, was over Nantucket Island, Mass., a landing at LaGuardia Field here was considered, but before the plane could get here the mist had closed in.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

How to Grow Lupins

By T. W. LEGGETT

It is sometimes heard that the culture of Lupins is difficult. It can be made so by listening to the talk of inexperienced and unsuccessful growers. The man who has grown more and better lupins than anyone, for more than 30 years, George Russell of England, is authority for the truth regarding the culture of lupins.

Mr. Russell says lupins do best in a sandy, gravelly or well-drained soil in full sun. Never use lime or manure around them. Most any good garden soil that is well drained is satisfactory. Water liberally in hot or dry weather.

DEEP ROOTING

Lupins are deep rooting plants. For best results the ground should be trenched 18 to 24 inches deep, keeping the good soil in its natural position on top. Lupins do not require or like a rich soil. For ordinary gardens 24 to 30 inches between the plants is sufficient. For exhibition purposes add six inches additional.

To obtain the highest possible germination for lupin seed, chip before sowing. Hold the seed firmly between the finger and thumb of the left hand; make a small incision in the outer skin with a sharp knife, laying the skin back, exposing a bit of the kernel about the size of the head of a pin.

When the seedlings are large enough to handle, with four or five leaves, they should be transferred to a nursery bed and allowed to grow until Autumn or the following Spring. Then they will be large enough for their permanent place in beds or borders where they will flower that year and thereafter.

SET PROPER DEPTH

In transplanting make a hole wide enough and deep enough to permit the roots to spread out naturally their full length, setting them to the depth at which they were previously covered. Be careful to firm the soil well over the roots.

After sufficient soil has been placed over the roots to protect them, tread it down. When the balance of the soil is replaced, tread down again.

FACES LIFE TERM IN ATTACK

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—Life imprisonment today loomed for Joseph Puckett, 34-year-old escaped convict whose prison record was disclosed as result of a fight with "the man next door."

Puckett, superintendent of an apartment house in the Bronx, allegedly used a monkey wrench to strike Charles Evans, 21 year old Negro employed in an adjoining apartment building as a superintendent's helper.

The fracas resulted when Puckett's 11 year-old son, Herbert, bounced a ball into the courtyard where Evans was working. The Negro youth refused to let the boy get the ball. Herbert called his dad and the quarrel billowed.

On complaint of Evans, police took Puckett into custody on a felonious assault charge.

Police, however, said his fingerprints revealed that he was a fugitive from Budd Lake, N. J., prison camp, that he escaped in 1929 after serving three years of a six to nine-year term for burglary.

As a result of his previous record and the charge now pending, Puckett may be sentenced to life imprisonment as a fourth offender under the laws of New York state.

Tobin Praises Jewish Patriots

The part that Jews played in building American democracy and their service in all wars fought by the nation was cited by Mayor Tobin at a memorial service of Jewish War Veterans at Temple Israel.

"Across the Atlantic," said the mayor, "a mighty power has been raised up which would have us break faith with Jews.

"Since Bunker Hill, members of the Jewish race have demonstrated their loyalty to America and have died in defense of its ideals.

Rabbi Harry Levi, honorary chaplain of the Massachusetts Department, Jewish War Veterans said it was the duty of all to finish the work which those who died in the last World War in defence of democracy had started, if civilization were to continue.

Past Commander Samuel A. Rivkind, who presided at the service, said:

"Our first line of defense is in America. If we cherish the priceless heritage of justice, we must resolve to do our duty against those who would seek to impose upon mankind the yoke of serfdom and slavery."

No Nazi Emblems At Camp Opening

YAPHANK, N. Y., May 27 (AP)—Nazi swastikas and uniforms were absent as 2000 persons attended the opening for the 1940 season of Camp Siegfried, operated by an affiliate of the German-American Bund.

Both were much in evidence when the camp was inaugurated five years ago. Only the American flag was flown.

2 Escape Death in Auto's River Plunge

A young couple narrowly escaped death twice today as their careening car bounced through Hemenway street, Back Bay, finally turning into the Fenway and diving into Muddy River.

Witnesses found the girl badly shaken on the bank and her escort swimming across the river. Badly cut, he was lifted from the opposite river bank by police and taken to City Hospital with the girl.

At the hospital the couple identified themselves as Miss Elsie Ladowe, 34, and Glenn Worden, 36, both of Brainerd rd., Allston.

Physicians released the woman after treatment, but Worden, suffering from a lacerated tendon of the right hand, lacerated scalp and immersion, was held for further treatment.

Emergency crews of police and firemen smashed the rear window of the partially submerged car and groped for possible bodies. The front seat was entirely under water.

Residents of Hemenway st., near Forsyth st., said they first saw the car headed intown. The driver appeared to lose control as it struck the curbing, ricocheted against lumber piled in a nearby yard, then was swung around in the opposite direction, police reported.

Then the car swung toward the Fenway but, the driver again losing control, headed across the pedestrian's walk and dropped into the river, according to the official report.

The woman, badly shaken but dry and apparently uninjured, had escaped from the car before it plunged, police said.

Dorgan to Enter Court Clerk Race

Thomas F. Dorgan of Dorchester, father of Teachers' Oath Law and legislative agent for the City of Boston announced he will file nomination papers today for Democratic nomination for clerk of Suffolk Superior Court for civil business.

The candidate, a former representative, was defeated for the same post two years ago by John Patrick Connolly, since convicted on job selling charges.

Duke, Wally End Reunion

PARIS, May 27 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have been separated by their war work. He is in Paris and she is going to their Riviera home at Cap d'Antibes.

The duke and his American-born wife for whom he relinquished the British crown spent last week together on leave at Biarritz, and were entertained by members of the British colonies at Ascain and other nearby resorts.

The duke returned to Paris to resume his duties as a British liaison officer. The duchess, who has been cooperating with relief units sending packages to soldiers at the front, is going to her work from Cap d'Antibes.

Curley Advocates 6th Column Here

A sixth column drawn from America's schools, comprising a potential trained military force of 3,000,000 each year, was the aim today of former-Gov. Curley.

The Curley proposal was made in an address before 1200 delegates to the convention of the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters at the New Ocean House, Swampscott.

Jury Waits Burleson Death Case in South

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 27 (INS)—Only a slight chance appeared today that either Col. Richard C. Burleson or Mrs. May Walker Burleson will testify and explain the marital triangle that resulted in the slaying of the colonel's second wife.

On trial in general sessions court, May is charged with murdering Mrs. Isabelle Reece Knowlton Burleson, formerly of Boston, in a Columbia Hotel 1st March 8. She pleaded insanity.

Recessed for the weekend, after nine state and 12 defense witnesses had testified, the court convened again today. The defense was expected to rest its case immediately.

Defense Counsel Bleecker Morse, of Galveston, Tex., said:

"We haven't decided whether Mrs. Burleson will testify, but probably not."

REBUTTAL WITNESSES

If the defense rests the state will present at least three rebuttal witnesses. But Col. Burleson apparently will be among them.

"He knows nothing about the shooting," explained Solicitor A. Fletcher Spigner, "and his presence on the stand would be unnecessary."

The state's rebuttal is calculated to require but a short time, so that, if the defense rests, final arguments probably will be concluded today and the case entrusted to the jury.

The solicitor sought to prove Mrs. Burleson deliberately entered the hotel where the colonel and his wife were registered, waited for the victim and shot her with a pistol while she ate lunch in the cafeteria.

"RESTING" IN JAIL

The defense attempted to show the former Texas socialite is afflicted with paranoia, a mental disturbance which it contended was aggravated by loss of her husband's love.

Unbroken by four days in court, despite one voluble outburst Friday, the defendant was reported "resting" in special quarters at Richland County jail. Col. Burleson, who sought a divorce after 30 years of wedded life with the defendant and a year later married the Widow Knowlton, remained in the city to assist prosecutors.

REDS HIT BY UNION IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The report of the general executive board presented to the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (Independent) today denounced Communism and recommended a 30-hour week in industry.

Signed by David Dubinsky, international president, and 21 vice-presidents, the report left to the convention a decision on whether the union should continue its independent status. The union, originally AFL, was an early member of the CIO, but withdrew from that organization two years ago.

The report accused Labor's Non-Partisan League of becoming "more and more a part of the Communist 'transmission belt.'" The league is the organization through which the CIO has exerted much of its political strength.

The union leaders expressed approval of the Roosevelt administration and urged extension of the New Deal. An amendment to the fair labor standards act extending a 40-cent an hour minimum to all industry was asked.

Mentioning the union's campaign against Communism in the Non-Partisan League's New York affiliate, the American Labor party, the report said that interest in independent labor political action was not confined to New York alone, but that in Cleveland, Boston, Chicago, on the Pacific coast and in several Connecticut and New Jersey cities "our unions have taken active part in the local labor's non-partisan leagues in the past three years."

PIANIST, 81, DEAD

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

War is war and the boy who hollered wolf once too often is going to take another encore.

Back in 1917 an Albama cotton chopper said: "Dey can't make me fight."

His pal said: "Brudder, youse right. Dey can't make you fight. But dey can take you to where the fightin' is."

You haven't much choice in the new style of war. They bring the fighting to where you is.

U.S. to Bolster Canal Defenses

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—Cooperation between the United States and Ecuador on measures to safeguard the Panama Canal was indicated today by disclosure that military and naval officers of the two countries had just concluded a series of conferences.

State department officials said an army officer and a naval officer had been sent to Ecuador at the request of that government. The conferences were described as "a part of the general Western Hemisphere defense picture."

Dispatches from Guayaquil reported the officers had submitted a memorandum on methods of unifying Ecuadorean land, sea and air forces, which was said to involve reinforcing both the South American country and the outlying Galapagos Islands with planes, pilots, instructors and fast naval craft.

New Citizens Hear U.S. Ideals

To 300 new men and women citizens in federal district court today, Judge Francis J. W. Ford emphasized the indestructability of this great nation.

"In welcoming you into citizenship in this grand country I can do no more than remind you of the words spoken last night by President Roosevelt," Judge Ford said.

"This country was well built, not by crackpots, but by men of vision and honor.

"Our President has no apprehension that this fine ideal will perish. He has said for more than three centuries we have been building in this country a free society in which the promise of the human spirit may find fulfillment.

"We have built well."

of the British Union of Fascists also were arrested.

Continuing their drive against Fifth Column suspects, police searched four or five hundred ships, warehouses and docks along the Thames for possible hidden arms and uniforms but reported no important discoveries.

For calling Prime Minister Churchill "butcher" in an address before Communists, Charles Findlay, 23-year-old mechanic, was sentenced to three months in jail and fined £50 ($175.)

Donald Patrick O'Bryne, 23, arrested in the Croydon district of south London for shouting: "When the Germans get here they'll show you how to run Croydon," was sentenced to a week in prison.

Meanwhile Britain today has entrusted her home defenses to Gen. Sir Edward Ironside and placed Lieut.-Gen. Sir John Greer Dill in the Empire's highest military post as chief of the Imperial general staff.

JOIN IN PRAYERS

These vital changes in the army high command, made as Germany's mechanized columns extended their gains in their struggle for a springboard for a direct assault on England, reflected urgent action for strengthening Britain's resistance to the threatened invasion.

The empire joined King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in their national day of prayer, and armament plants worked at full speed throughout the week-end.

The government at the same time announced a new list of 15 southeast coast towns as "evacuation areas" and prepared to move children to safer places. Among them were Dover, only 22 miles across the channel from Calais, and Folkestone, 26 miles from German-held Boulogne.

BRITISH TANK ACTION

The war office gave only a meager account of the actual fighting for the channel ports but a London source denied the German claim to have taken Calais.

Drive of Nazis Nearing Ypres

yesterday at a loss of only 15 German planes against 73 Allied craft destroyed

1—Sank a merchant ship of 8000 tons and caused explosions with bomb hits on one large warship, two cruisers and an 18,000-ton transport.

RAID PARIS AIRPORTS

2—Raided airports and the vicinity of Paris, traffic facilities south of Rheims and Allied troop movements.

3—Dropped more parachutists to reinforce the beleaguered Nazi garrison at Narvik, Norway's Arctic iron ore port.

Seizure of vital points, regarded here as a foregone conclusion, was expected to seal the fate of a million or more Allied troops trapped in Belgium and northern France and pave the way for a direct assault upon England.

In an effort to cut these forces in two, one German column was reported advancing in a northerly direction from the vicinity of Lille to meet another Nazi force fighting southward from Courtrai, Belgium.

JOINING IRON RING

The spearheads of these forces were said to be less than 18 miles apart. If they meet, they would form an iron ring around French and British troops now fighting in the area bounded by Lille, Valenciennes, Cambrai and Lens.

Announcement of the capture of Calais, only 22 miles from the chalk cliffs of Dover, Eng., was accompanied by reports of new German successes elsewhere on land, sea and in the air.

As outlined by the German high command these included:

1—The sinking of a British aircraft carrier by bombs off Harstad, Norway, and bomb hits on a battleship and cruiser off the Norwegian port of Narvik.

2—Damaging aerial attacks on airports in east and southeast England.

3—Bombing of harbor facilities at Dunkirk, Zebrugge and Ostend, during which a powder magazine and marine depot were set afire.

Blockade Eased, but Italy Still Cries War

ROME, May 27 (AP)—Italy appeared today to be speeding along the road to war despite British hopes of mollifying Italian bitterness against the Allied blockade.

British asserted Italy had proposed "a very satisfactory basis" for a contraband agreement but this brought no immediate sign of relaxation of preparations of the Italian military machine or damming of the popular spirit for intervention.

Most Italians believed any relaxation of the contraband control would fall far short of meeting Fascist "aspirations" for territorial and other concessions so long as the British held the keys to Gibraltar and the Suez Canal, the two gateways to the Mediterranean which Italians call "mare Mostrum" (our sea.)

BULLETIN

ROME, May 27 (INS)—Anglo-Italian trade negotiations have been suspended and the British delegation has left for London, International News Service learned today.

(A dispatch from Malta, British Mediterranean base only 60 miles from Sicily and 150 miles from the toe of the Italian "boot," said Americans there had been advised to leave at the earliest possible moment.)—Editor's Note.

CONFERS WITH ARMY

In the atmosphere of intense preparations for war, these developments occurred yesterday.

1—Premier Mussolini conferred with army chiefs, directors of mobilization and arms producers and subsequently orders were issued to expand the production of artillery and to conserve the nation's gasoline supplies by suspending civilian motor traffic June 1.

3—Banners bearing the words "war, war!" and "Duce, we want to march!" were raised before the premier in Mussolini Forum at the end of a gymnastic exhibition by 10,000 Fascist youths.

3—Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano returned from a tour of Albania—conquered and annexed by Italy in April, 1939—in which he received pledges of Albanian support in any Italian effort.

FRENCH HURL BACK FRESH ATTACKS

and in the east no important event."

CITADEL FINALLY FALLS

The citadel at the channel port of Boulogne, which had been defended by a valiant band of French soldiers, fell into German hands yesterday afternoon, the French admitted.

There were no details regarding the actual storming of the citadel, but its capitulation followed fierce hand-to-hand fighting in the streets of Boulogne and, it was said, "probably" occurred only when the defenders either were almost annihilated or had run out of ammunition.

British troops who assisted in defending the channel port were said to be withdrawing northward along the coast toward Calais, which the French asserted they still hold, despite a German announcement to the contrary.

Allied and German communiques have repeatedly contradicted each other in claiming the holding of Calais.—Editor's Note.

In an effort to strengthen their forces along the Channel, fired after 17 days of continuous fighting, the Germans were reported to be rushing fresh troops from the Swiss border and the west wall through the narrow gap in the Allied lines north of the Somme.

The French declared that the corridor was being raked by Allied artillery and bombed without rest, and that the German were paying a terrific price to keep the breach open.

North of the corridor, French, British and Belgian forces were said by the high command to be putting up a successful defensive fight.

It appeared that the Germans were attempting to cut the Allied army of the north in two by hammering through their lines to make connections with their forces to the northwest. In Berlin it was said that the two German forces were within 18 miles of each other.—Editor's Note.

Although slowly withdrawing from Belgium, military spokesmen said, these forces were giving the Germans so much trouble that they could not concentrate on their operations in northern France.

The Allied lines in the north were said to extend from a point north of Ostend southward to Courtrai and thence along the west bank of the Scheldt river toward Cambrai. From Cambrai the line turns northwest through Arras and St. Omer to strike the coast between Boulogne and Calais.

General Maxime Weygand, the Allied commander-in-chief, was reported to have flown over the northern armies yesterday to study their position and later landed to confer with their leaders.

Military sources said these troops were being kept well supplied through Zeebrugge and channel ports further south.

Motorized troops who have played a large part in the Nazi drive to the channel would find the "wet clay ground of Flanders, studded everywhere with rugged vegetations and criss-crossed by canals, an unpropitious battlefield," one commentator said.

If the Germans are successful in making connections they will have succeeded in encircling the Allied troops now fighting between Cambrai and the Belgian border—Editor's Note.

South of the Somme and along the front extending westward to Montmedy and the Luxembourg border the French were said to be holding.

At several points, according to the high command, they took the initiative along the Somme, establishing new bridgeheads on the northern bank and further narrowing the Petrone-Bapaume corridor—now something less than 20 miles wide.

Another German assault in the Montmedy sector also was reported repulsed with severe losses to the attackers.

300 Austrians Executed, Says British Radio

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The British Broadcasting Co. said in a German language announcement today that 300 Austrian soldiers with the German forces at Oslo, Norway, had mutinied and had been immediately executed.

The program was picked up here by NBC.

Cocoanut Grove, Essex Add Sparkle to Rialto

By SAM BERENSON

Another brilliant show for the Cocoanut Grove, wherein disport the Grove lovelies with grace and abandon and into the spotlight step many a top-ranking entertainment "name" . . . an excellently balanced revue, with all the colorful action that has made the Grovian productions highlights along the Rialto . . . Mickey Alpert's band . . . with Martha Burke—the only gal in an otherwise male band hereabouts—purty and efficient at the piano . . .

New faces this week at the Grille Room of the Hotel Essex, where a fresh band and a lovelier gal-line highlight a sparkling Essex summer show . . . Sam Golden, voice of the Essex, is incidentally in search of a girl singer and a Conga band . . . we hope he finds the singer . . .

A new revue dances into the merry Latin Quarter tonight, a typical Quarter gal show which has made this plaisance one of the more famed of the tsk-tsk salons . . . this emphasis on beauty and starry club personalities ranks the current production along with the Rialto's gayest . . . marking the Latin Quarter as an indisputable take-in for your evening out . . . Local boy Eddy Duchin plays a Harvard date on the 17th of June . . . This village is rapidly catching on to Back Bay Station, a slick jump-tune conjured up by Ruby Newman and Sparky Tomaselli, and currently wowing the patrons at the Ritz Roof . . a sure hit . . . Marion Shaw, late of the Richard Himber pipers, is the new gal-singer with the Newman crew and rates our posie for her ear-soothing ditties . . . Steuben Vienna room receiving a brisk play from the Rialto set.

What is probably the week's major event to the after-dusk set is the Wednesday opening of "The Lighthouse," Hugo's swanky hostelry on the water's edge at Cohasset Harbor . . . the Hugo reputation for quality foods has already been well polished . . . but the slick new "Lighthouse" offers additionally one of the East's loveliest and most atmospheric oases, plus the foot-tapping melody-making of Guy Ormandy and his band . . . a more than goodly crowd was whisked to the Sheraton Roof one night last week for the debut of the Hotel Sheraton's attic session . . . a gay spot, this face-lifted sky parlor—larger facilities, a bright new dance floor, and Johnny Cole's music . . . Elvira Rios—fresh from the flicker "Stage Coach"—is the week's headliner . . . And mid-week or so will see the opening of the Roof Garden at the Westminister Hotel . . . The Barclay, illustrious Cape rendezvous, smacks open its summer season on Wednesday, music-making to be conjured up by Bob MacLeod and his orchestra . . . this is a California group, with successful stays behind it at the Alps Castle and The House of Murphy . . . Manager "Ken" is well known to Sandy Burr guests.

The exotic atmosphere of Monte Proser's Beachcomber is proving a mighty tempting allure among the stay-up-lates . . . this rum and rumba rendezvous packs a wealth of color . . . and tropical drinks and South Sea rhythm appear to be exactly what the local after-dusk set has been waiting for.

Those scarce hours which Biggie Ribby, can spare from his cafe find this host getting his boat in shape . . . Ribby, lest you know not, is considered one of the State's most skillful anglers . . . Ruby Foo is now considering taking over an entire building for her Den . . . Joe Rubin's School of Radio and Theater stages a recital at the Bradford on June 7th. Mae Brown at the Crawford House coming in for a well-merited round of hand-clapping . . . Mae is one of the Rialto's most torrid personalities . . . Cappy's North Easton hostelry is definitely a ranking spot in the hearts of out-of-town gadabouts . . . credit for this smash success belongs to host Cappy himself.

It's a Wally Wanger revue at the Club Mayfair, where Buddy and Judy Allen; the Three Heat Waves; Gayle Gaylord; and Tung Pin Soo join with the Mayfair chorines in putting across one of the season's smartest shows . . . In anticipation of the summer trade, the Lawrence Hofbrau has just been redecorated . . . club beauty is now added to floor shows that are always outstanding . . . a definite spot on your MUST list should be reserved for this rendezvous . . . El Bolero has its formal opening on Wednesday . . . Dorgan's Old Harbor House in South Boston goes topbilling to Tom Stockley . . . with Hugie Russell's Lads for dancing . . . Jack Brown is opening his Hatherley Beach hostelry . . . tagged The Hatherly Lobster Pound . . . A smart take-in is the Colonial Country Club on Walnut st. over in Lynnfield . . . under Snyder Hackett's management . . . Miami Grove has well laid plans for its 1st anniversary.

Izzy Ort's new El Tropico Room is attracting a great deal of interest from the smart set . . . that torrid South Sea atmosphere is definitely set a-humming by biggie Izzie . . . a pair of tuneful bands and a bevy of hula-hula gals keep this spot crowded . . . Blinstrub's Village in South Boston will continue throughout the summer to feature the best in entertainment for which it has been noted all year . . . always a delightful evening here . . . with some of the cleverest and starriest performers to be seen hereabouts . . . Sport celebrities were on hand at the opening of the Circle Cafe at Nantasket . . . Manager Jackie Donahue (a swell guy) present at all times to see that the patrons were well entertained . . . Don Rico and his band move into the Hi-Hat . . . Lovely Virginia Vaughn who scored so smartly at the Cocoanut Grove with her dance styling opens at the swank Glass Hat Club in New York, next week . . . Jack Sherman well known pianist reported to have signed with Sammy Izen . . . Grove's Melody Lounge being prettied and when completed will be one of the East's most beautiful club salons.

GRANDSON OF KAISER KILLED

BERLIN, May 27 (AP)—The death of Prince Wilhelm of Prussia from a wound while fighting in Flanders was announced today. He was the oldest son of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, a grandson of the former Kaiser and the second Hohenzollern victime of the European war.

Prince Wilhelm

The other was Prince Oscar, second of Prince Wilhelm. Oscar fell on the Polish front.

Wilhelm received an abdominal wound on May 23. He was hurried to a military hospital near Brussels where he died Sunday after being decorated with the iron cross, 1st class. He was an infantry lieutenant.

Wilhelm was born July 4, 1906, in Marmor Palace. He was married June 3, 1933, to Dorothea Von Salviati, descendant of an Italian family. They had two daughters, Princess Felicitas and Princess Christa.

Film Actor Montgomery Goes to War

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Robert Montgomery, American motion picture actor, has been accepted as an ambulance driver on the American field service and expects to leave for France Wednesday or Thursday.

Bob Montgomery

Today he was busy superintending the closing of his country home near Stoke Poges in Buckinghamshire.

Montgomery has been comparatively inactive since his arrival in England in January and has been awaiting an opportunity for active war service. He will operate from headquarters in Paris, where he will receive his uniform and equipment.

His wife will return to the United States on the President Roosevelt now en route to Galway, and will leave here for Ireland on W[illegible] day.

Coast Guard Hunts 2 Men in 2 Boats

Coast guardsmen searched a 25-mile stretch of sea between Scituate and Gloucester today for two men in two 25-foot cabin cruisers.

State Police reported Edwin Grant, 25, of North Easton, and Alfred Hayden, 28, of West Bridgewater, left Onset Thursday to deliver the cruisers at Gloucester and had been checked out of Scituate yesterday by the Coast Guard.

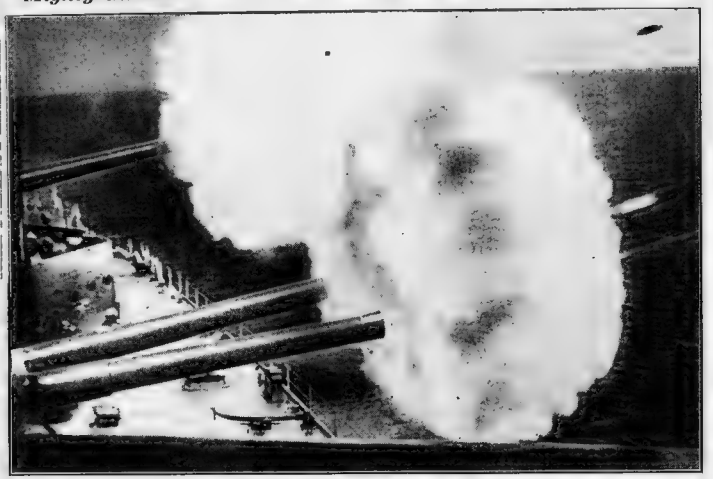
THUNDERING ROAR OF BRITISH LION

Mighty Guns of H. M. S. Iron Duke Blast Out a Message of Defiance



Protection—Among Britain's mighty ships which today are drawing a tight cordon around England to foil any German attempt at invasion by sea is the battleship Iron Duke . . . and here, her guns blast away, prepared to defend. Meanwhile, other units of the fleet are shelling French coastal areas held by Germans.

America Prepares—Army men study the "flying table," devised and built by the Curtiss-Wright Technical Institute at Glendale, Cal., for the training of air corps mechanics . . . part of the move to train ground crews for a hoped-for 50,000 planes.

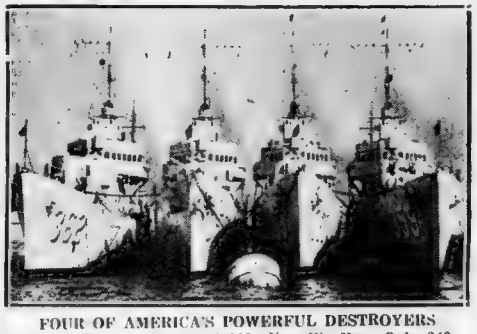
THE MYSTERY of what became of the $7,000,000,000 that has been appropriated for defense in the last seven years deepens with further examination.

The United Press has gathered the following figures on just what we have got out of that colossal sum.

If it doesn't start an immediate Congressional investigation, then Congress has ceased to function as the watchdog of the Treasury and our preparedness.



FOUR OF AMERICA'S POWERFUL DESTROYERS
Seven Years Ago We Had 229; Now We Have Only 219

In 1933 we had 15 battleships. TODAY WE STILL HAVE ONLY 15.

In 1933 we had three aircraft carriers. In 1940 we have ONLY FIVE.

In 1933 we had 82 submarines. In 1940, 95.

In 1933 we had 229 destroyers. In 1940 we have 219—a DECREASE of 10.

In 1933 we had 90,150 "active man-power" in the Navy. In 1940 we have 145,000, an increase of only 50,000 IN OUR FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE.

In Navy aircraft we jumped from 933 in 1933 to 2863 in 1940—still woefully deficient considering our thousands of miles of open coast on two oceans and our Pacific possessions, not to speak of the Panama Canal.

There has been, it is true, an increase in heavy and light cruisers and in Naval Reserves and Marines, but the number is still pitifully small.

In the Army our aircraft has jumped in seven years from 1197 to 2700. This, too, is pitiful, a tragic, showing with billions pouring out of the Treasury.

There have been in seven years small increases in active man-power, reserves and motor vehicles.

THE ONLY REAL PROGRESS made in the Army has been in tanks, anti-aircraft guns and anti-tank guns, but, still, the few hundred each of these do not account for a fraction of the $7,000,000,000 spent or spending.

In Army equipment we are deficient and many of our weapons are outmoded.

There has apparently been a "leak" in these billions, or, as Senator Bennett Clark, of Missouri, says, a "rat-hole."

Seven thousand million dollars of the taxpayers' money has been appropriated in the last seven years for defense, AND THERE IS HARDLY ANYTHING TO SHOW FOR IT.

We are now about to spend or are spending another $3,000,000,000 for defense.

Knowing, as we do, that the one inflexible policy of this Administration is WASTE, EXTRAVAGANCE and SECRECY, it would be well for Congress to appoint some sort of board of guardians over this new colossal defense fund and also appoint a committee to look around the country for the "rat-holes" down which some of (most of!) the previous $7,000,000,000 went.

The people demand DEFENSE, not WASTE.

A CANDID EDUCATOR, in the person of Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, Bucknell University president, addressed the Northern Baptist convention this week at Atlantic City, N. J., and said:

"Thousands of highly educated Ph. D's in Europe are devising new ways to butcher the human race.

"We make a tragic mistake when we put our trust in education as such to save the world.

"Modern, cruel warfare is one of the results of modern education."

This will interest most readers, particularly those who have listened to arguments that education ought to do exactly as it pleases under the guise of "academic freedom."

It will surely interest those thousands of men and women who believe that the kind of education that rules out God and His Ten Commandments is worse than no education at all.

On the Side

By E. V. DURLING

"SHOULDN'T a girl be permitted to keep an engagement ring?" asks a young woman. Lady, I don't know. Ask Elsie Robinson. All I know is Eleanor Powell once gave a $5000 engagement ring back to Abe Lyman, the bandmaster . . . It has been said that when a woman cries easily and is much given to tears it reveals she has a weak brain. May be something to this. Women of proven mental capacity rarely cry; and many times when they turn the tears loose it is on purpose and with the idea of making some man change his mind about something . . . Why not a beauty contest for girls who wear glasses?

"GROWING OLD," said Robert Updegraff, "is usually the result of doing the same old things, thinking the same old thoughts, following the same old rutted road with head down and spirit dragging" . . . An appealing jest of the yesteryear follows: A little boy was saying his prayers in a low voice. "I can't hear you, dear," said his mother. "Wasn't talking to you," said the lad firmly . . . Now a stylish stout type girl claims plump women make the best wives. Well, anyhow, some of them make good wives. Martha Washington, wife of George, was plump . . . The United States declared war on Germany April 6, 1917, but the first shot fired by American troops was not until October 23, 1917. The order for this shot was given by Sergeant Alexander Arch of South Bend, Ind. . . . What became of Sergeant Arch?

ONCE SHE RETURNED $5000 ENGAGEMENT RING
Eleanor Powell, Beautiful Singing and Dancing Star

GERMAN air fields are built underground. Let us learn all we can as to how modern warfare is waged and prepare a modern defense for it . . . Why refer to it as "Compulsory Military Training"? Why not call it "Required Home Defense Training"? Surely no man could object to being required to prepare for the protection of his home and loved ones . . . Hitler says the war will be over August 15, 1940. Goering says the United States will be at war in the autumn of 1940. What does Goering mean?

EVERY town should have a grass widows' club for the mates of traveling men, war correspondents, sailors and golf players. When wives meet without husbands what do the girls talk about? All replies confidential.

NON-SMOKERS should stay in the non-smokers sections of trains and not take up the space alloted to smokers . . . A man opening an eatery in which only steak is served, or where only chicken is served can hardly fail to make money if his stuff is good. And if he has good coffee . . . E. W. Scripps, publisher, smoked 40 cigars a day, and lived to a ripe old age. However, it must be told he had his cigars made to order for him and they were very mild.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, May 27—Mrs. Morgenthau and I rose early on Friday morning and went with the NYA state director, Mr. Callahan, to see the four houses in which the resident NYA boys at Arthurdale are living.

These boys certainly do a thorough job of housekeeping. Everything was spic and span and I think this project will develop into something really valuable for the community.

Immediately after this inspection, we started on our drive from Arthurdale to Wheeling, W. Va., which seemed short. Strange to say, we were ahead of schedule.

OUR FIRST STOP was to be a few miles outside of Wheeling. A mine superintendent had written to ask me if I would spend five minutes beside the road, for some of his men wanted a chance to see me. I did so and they presented me a letter from which I quote, because it shows what can be done when people of good will meet together:

"There exists here a fine spirit of cooperation between the employes and the employer. Under the union agreement, all grievances are taken up with the proper officials and a settlement reached that is satisfactory to all concerned.

"In tribute to the efficient and humanitarian policy adhered to by the management, I might say that the mines are operating with a minimum of labor saving machinery and everything that is humanly possible has been done to provide work for as many men as possible under the circumstances.

"This is all the more noteworthy when one takes into consideration the fact that competition is very keen in the coal business and the installation of modern machinery by the other companies has made that competition the harder to meet.

"The officials of the coal company are also to be commended for their treatment of the aged coal miners, since not a single employe has been laid off due to advanced age."

Next we stopped off at the little WPA nursery school in a room over a garage. In that one room the food for the children is cooked in a corner. Their cots are put out when it is time to sleep.

Not the most ideal situation under which to care for little children, but still the children looked well and those in charge told me they had gained in weight.

Then we lunched at Oglebay Park. This park is something pleasant to think about, but it seems a little hard to reach if you are short of cash and have a family to take out for a holiday.

It is wild and beautiful in spots, the different camp sites are charming and the bridle paths and walking trails are a joy.

I am very proud of the swimming pool and the building which goes with it where dances and parties may be held, for it is one of the best construction jobs I have seen done by WPA.

The Campbell Girl

"I had an argument with my partner, so he took back a few things he had contributed to the business."

PRESIDENT WEIGHS COLLEGE TALK

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, May 27—The University of Virginia has invited President Roosevelt to make the commencement address at Charlotteville, on June 10. Although that date now is not too distant, the President as yet has not indicated whether he'll accept the invitation . . . The current crisis is occupying all his time. An added complication is the fact that his son, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., whose marks have been excellent, is a member of the University's law school graduating class, but the results of the final examinations have not yet been tabulated.

SOCIAL NOTES: W. C. Fields has a portrait in his home which appears to be a masterpiece. At first glance, it seems to be a painting of Queen Victoria—but close inspection reveals that the face is that of Fields, and in the background is a bottle of his favorite Scotch . . . Fields now is preparing to install a new educational system in the public schools in America. He is ready to contribute $5000 to a fund for the purpose of having all the public schools accept as a standard text-book "Liquor, the Servant of Man," by W. H. Smith and F. C. Helwig, which describes liquor as "one of the most beneficial medicines" . . . Gene Fowler has pledged an additional $2000 to this Fields Enlightment Fund.

IRENE DUNNE

* * *

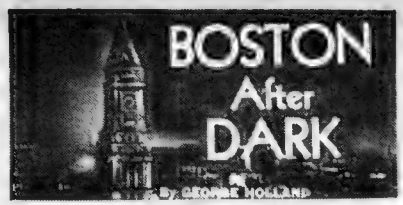
MOVIE DEPT.: Gene Fowler, who went to Louisville to see the Derby, attended a hectic party after the race. Five men entered the car belonging to Irene Dunne and Fowler stopped the trespassers as they were about to drive back to town . . . He held up his hands and intoned to them: "Speed not away, kind angels. You will meet your gods in time." Then he entered the car, and joined them.

* * *

SPORT DEPT.: Henry Youngman, who is in Philadelphia working at the Club Bah, went to the ball game there and purchased a seat very high in the stands. So high, Youngman insists, that he turned to the goggled-man next to him and asked: "How do you like the game?" . . . "What game?" the other replied. "I'm flying the mails."

* * *

MUSIC DEPT.: At the Paramount Theater this week, the featured entertainers are Tony Martin, the singer, and Charlie Barnet's orchestra . . . The singer and the bandleader met when they both were students at Ohio University. At that time Tony Martin conducted the college band. And Charlie Barnet supplied the vocalization.



MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: The President was reassuring . . . But a conclave of aviation chieftains, grouped in an "aeronautics forum" at another strategically important microphone, took another line . . . These boys left an impression that Uncle Sam owned a number of airplanes that would fly . . . Last night may have launched a Cannae against the "false alarmists" whose woebegone spirit has infiltrated as far as the ringsides of the Boston Cafe Front in the past two weeks . . . This perpetual ringsider hopes so at least.

YET TODAY WE OFFER A DIRECT QUOTATION from a military man of the rank of major-general . . . You have been hearing it paraphrased, perhaps, since the Germans swept through the Low Countries, and you will be hearing versions of the same thought from various sources until 50,000 planes are manufactured or, to quote FDR, "on order" . . . Here's the "quote" (spoken in Boston):

"WE HAVE DRIFTED ALONG for years fed with Fourth of July oratory and fictitious books about our military history . . . We have not been told of the failures in organization and hideous failures of leadership that have made the wars of our history so long . . . Modern war means organization from the ground up . . . It means that a nation must know its resources in men, money and industry of all kinds . . . When people talk about 'embattled farmers' and 'a million men springing to arms between sunset and sunrise to march against a trained army, we must be inclined to consider them as fools' . . .

"IN THIS COUNTRY WE PAY $60,000,000 more a year for our automobiles than for our army . . . Out of every $100 of national wealth we pay 8 cents for our army." . . . Does that sound alarming? . . . The reporter who wrote the "lead" which prefaced these quotes and others called the speech "a stirring appeal for a quickened public conscience in the matter of adequate national defense for this country" . . . And the story appeared in the Boston Journal of May 20, 1916

MAJOR-GENERAL LEONARD WOOD was the orator, the place was the Boston City Club, and the occasion "Preparedness Night" . . . It was part of the "build-up" for the huge "Preparedness Day Parade," in which 100,000 persons marched . . . As today is the anniversary (the 24th) of that exciting day in Boston's history, we thought that Gen. Wood's "stirring appeal for a quickened public conscience" might prove interesting . . . As is generally known, the American war that started less than a year later turned out victoriously.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: "Keep Off the Grass" was hammered by the New York critics, who weren't telling the Boston public anything it didn't know . . . Virginia O'Brien was selected as the inevitable "show-stealer"—without which no big musical is complete . . . Virginia's hit, however, did not reach the proportions of Mary

LEW AYRES TO PLAY NEW ROLE

By Harriet Parsons

Lew Ayres

Pinch-hitting for Louella O. Parsons who is on vacation

HOLLYWOOD, May 27—Lew Ayres isn't going to get much time to brush up on his rhumba in South America because M-G-M is paging him right now for the lead in "Golden Fleecing," with those two lovelies Rita Johnson and Virginia Grey. Lew's success in the "Dr. Kildare" pictures has been little short of phenomenal and Metro is naturally hoping the Kildare series will prove the same sort of springboard for him that the "Hardy" series did for Mickey Rooney, catapulting him to the top of the list of boxoffice favorites

However, for the moment Lew will desert his role of the earnest young doctor to play an entirely different type of character—a Casper Milquetoast who becomes a hero when he hands Public Enemy No. 1 over to the G-Men—by accident. Leslie Fenton, who traded his make-up box for a megaphone will direct "Golden Fleecing."

ANITA LOUISE

* * *

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Dorothy Di Frasso whipped up a spur-of-the-moment party Saturday night for Barbara Hutton. Among those who tried to forget the war and be gala were Marlene Dietrich, the Dick Barthelemesses with their house guest, Countess Tolstoi, Cary Grant, the Doug Fairbanks, Jrs., Joan Bennett and Walter Wanger, Virginia Bruce and J. Walter Ruben, Loretta Young, Elsa Maxwell; Ad Randall is no fool—when he took two beautiful redheads to dinner t'other night he also took along his lawyer

* * *

ANITA LOUISE, Penny Singleton and Virginia Field will model "mad" hats for Ann Lehr's Guild luncheon at the Victor Hugo Tuesday; Helen Parrish's beau, Forrest Tucker, will have to leave her long enough to go on location at the Santa Cruz islands for "The Howards of Virginia." Believe it or not he'll play Cary Grant's papa. But don't worry—he's only in the early sequences where Cary's a lad of 12, portrayed by Dickie Jones; when Virginia Taylor and Arthur Treacher were married she wore a black and white gown and Treacher cracked, "Oh, in mourning already!"

* * *

AT THE BOAT to bid your favorite columnist, her favorite doctor and Mecca Graham bon voyage were the Jules Steins, the Dan Dankers, Mrs. Harry Brand, Mrs. Hal Roach, Fieldsie and Walter Lang, Jane Wyman and Ronald Reagan. And don't think L. O. P. didn't have a glint in her eye when she said, "That's all today. See you next month!"

TWO-MINUTE STORY

KITTY MASON glanced about nervously, clutching her small suitcase as she stepped from the train in New York City.

Sitting apprehensively on one of the hard benches, she thought back to the time this had all started. Almost a year ago she had written to a correspondence club in answer to the following: "I am a midwesterner, 25 years of age, have a fair amount of looks, brains, and personality. Am interested in corresponding with a girl not over 21, good-looking, interested in farming. Write to Mr. Thomas Malton, 15 Cow Lane, Oxford, Missouri."

SO Kitty and he had exchanged views by mail until finally Tom had suggested their meeting and seeing each other. They would recognize one another by the white carnation on their coat lapels.

"Um," she mused, "suppose he isn't what I think he is . . . I know what I'll do. I'll take my carnation off and if he's what I want him to be, I'll put it back on again."

She reached up and shakily removed the fresh, white flower.

Nervously Tom Malton went over to the railroad candy stand to buy some chewing gum, and suddenly pulled the white carnation from his coat.

"Just in case she isn't what I think she'll be," he grinned.

The girl saw a tall, awkward man with prominent front teeth, and sandy, unruly hair sticking from under his battered hat. Methodically, he chewed his gum and glanced through a magazine while she turned her attention elsewhere. The man, looking at the clock above her, let his eyes wander down to her plump, freckled face with the hat striving to keep the brown hair captured. "Guess that's what you call pleasingly plump," he told himself.

TWO HOURS LATER, Kitty Mason rose wearily and took the return ticket from her purse. The letter caught her eye. Angrily, she ripped it into tiny pieces, and threw them into the waste receptacle. Unladylike thoughts raced through her Vermont-bred mind. "Never again!" she vowed vehemently.

A shrill whistle startled Tom into wakefulness. Why, it was half-past twelve! "Women!" he snarled. "Women! May I never see another!" Then he stalked off to board the 12:45 homebound train. He was from Missouri and he'd been shown!

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

HOW REAL is your belief in democracy? Is it a matter of pretty words or passionate principles? Something you take for granted — or something you know you must promote and defend?

And are you foolish enough to believe it can't be licked?

HENDRIK VAN LOON, the great historian, recently hurled these questions at the American people in one of the most tragic and timely broadcasts ever made. Twenty-four hours earlier the Nazis had invaded his birthland, Holland. En route to the lecture hall, he read of the bombing of his childhood home.

His voice choked with grief and horror, Van Loon rose to speak. But his carefully prepared notes were useless. They belonged to a world, to a faith and order, which had vanished overnight.

Already the dykes along the Zuider Zee were down and the sea had spread its deadly salt tide over the once kindly earth. Death, too, was raining from the skies

Blood ran in the streets of Rotterdam, babies died in the gutters of Amsterdam. And, in The Hague, an indomitable old woman stood at her post, watching the struggle, keeping the faith no matter what it might cost.

Too late, perhaps, to speak of Holland. But, looking at the waiting faces before him, Van Loon cried the question that lies so heavy on millions of hearts, "WHAT OF THE UNITED STATES?" If decency had not availed in Europe, how long would it prevail in America?

How long could the dykes of democracy withstand the killing tides of hate and greed?

"Only as long as it is a living issue to those who back it . . . not mere wishful thinking," thundered Van Loon.

HOW REAL IS your belief in democracy? Is it based on "wishful thinking?" Self-kidding? Or is it backed by honest conviction, continuous service, and a two-fisted wallop? Don't all speak at once. Don't speak at all until you've taken a long look-see at Exhibit A. Maybe you'll be surprised!

Capital Pushes Job Of National Defense

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 27—The nation's capital hummed with activity today at President Roosevelt drove forward to make good his pledge of a swift and adequate national defense program that will provide immediate jobs for tens of thousands of unemployed.

As predicted, the President, in last night's radio address to the country, ignored the demands of his Republican opponents that he declare himself out of the picture as a third term candidate.

Observers believed that it was more certain than ever that Mr. Roosevelt would say nothing on this score until after the Republican convention next month, and possibly not until the Democratic convention in July.

REPLIES TO CRITICS

Politicians noted, however, that in the internationally broadcast "fireside chat" the President answered critics who have been charging that the New Deal poured billions of defense dollars "down a rat hole" and has nothing to show for it.

They also noted his attack on "sectional or racial or political groups" which he charged were being egged on by clever foreign agents "to create confusion of counsel, public indecision, political paralysis and, eventually, a state of panic."

Meanwhile, leaders on Capitol Hill were being sounded out for their reaction to possible nomination of a line officer as Secretary of Navy.

BUSINESS READY TO AID

The officer in question was Admiral William D. Leahy, former chief of naval operations and present Governor of Puerto Rico. Leahy is believed certain to come back into the Washington picture, possibly in the cabinet post.

Announcement of the personnel of President Roosevelt's "national emergency co-ordinating group" was expected within the next few days.

Business men welcomed the President's reassurance that private industry would be called upon to turn out the needed planes, tanks, guns, ships, etc., and that the government stood ready to advance the necessary money for plant expansion.

The President's attack on trojan horse and fifth column activities was well received.

The President told the nation that there is no cause for panic because, forewarned by Europe's wars, the United States is preparing to defend the Western Hemisphere against any aggression.

Congress Rushing To Finish Session

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)— Senate leaders put together a fast legislative timetable today in an effort to wind up the session in two weeks, but Democratic House managers expressed doubt that Congress could adjourn before June 15.

Both chambers were hastening action on defense measures, but the $1,111,754,916 relief bill and various odds and ends still remained to be acted on.

Potential time-consuming arguments centered in a Senate effort to bring up the Logan-Walter bill to subject administrative rulings to court review and House demands for action on Wagner Act amendments.

It generally was considered unlikely that the House would take up Senate-approved amendments to broaden the Hatch anti politics law, and there was little congressional sentiment for acting at this session on financing for the big, new defense program.

DEBT INCREASE SEEN

Some leaders forecast, however, that the administration might ask an immediate increase in the $45,000,000,000 federal debt limit. There was no possibility, they asserted, that Congress would be called on to enact new taxes before 1941.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, said that he saw "no good reason why Congress can't get out in two weeks." He proposed that the Senate meet longer hours each day if it would insure adjournment by June 8.

Barkley said that the Senate would act this week on measures authorizing an 11 per cent increase in the fleet and putting a limit of 10,000 planes on the navy's air force.

WPA RESTRICTIONS

The House-approved relief bill was being considered today by a Senate appropriations subcommittee and Chairman Adams (D.) of Colorado predicted that it would go to the floor by mid-week without substantial change. It would refuse WPA aid to Communists or members of "Nazi Bund" organizations.

The House adjourned today to return to the Senate legislation terminating the Treasury's foreign silver purchase program. House leaders contended that the Senate exceeded its constitution authority in passing the measure, because it repeals the silver transfer tax and the Constitution reserves to the House the authority to initiate revenue measures. Sending the bill back to the Senate would kill it for this session.

Also ticketed for House approval today was a resolution to place in effect in 10 days President Roosevelt's transfer of the immigration service from the labor to the justice department.

MORE MONEY FOR NAVY

Measures authorizing more money for the navy in line with Mr. Roosevelt's emergency defense recommendations will be considered in the House tomorrow.

On the fiscal side of the congressional picture, substantial increases have been made in several of the President's appropriations estimates but these largely have been offset by reductions in others.

It appeared likely that the aggregate appropriations, including the emergency defense program, would approximate last year's total of $13,351,000,000. Appropriation bills thus far, including budget estimates of permanent appropriations and trust funds which Congress does not change, total $12,5[illegible],000,000. The final deficiency bill may add another $300,000,000.

Hollywood Paragraphs

By HARRIET PARSONS

Pinch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation.

HOLLYWOOD, May 27—Wal, girls, here he is—the nearest thing to Rudolph Valentino since the beloved Rudy passed away—if I can believe excited reports from the RKO lot. His name is Alberto Vila and he comes from Rio De Janeiro.

Lou Brock, who was traveling in South America discovered him and immediately pt in touch with George J. Schafer, who signed him on a long-term contract for RKO. I'm told he sings like a lark and has the looks of an Adonis. If he can act, too, young Vila, who is said to have the same lovable qualities as Charles Boyer, should be a romantic blitzkrieg. His first picture, "They Met in Argentine" will star the young man and he's being brought here as fast as plane can travel.

No youngster at 20th Century-Fox is forging ahead any faster than Brenda Joyce.

She has the top roles in "Public Deb No. 1" and in "Maryland," and, today I learned she gets her first starring assignment in "Red Cross Nurse," which is to be one of Sol Wurtzel's biggest budget productions for this year. It starts June 10, with Jane Darwell and Joan Davis also in the cast.

Wonder if it's true that Brenda will change her name in private life to Mrs. Owen Ward very soon?

When "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" first reached the screen just a year ago, much of the most exciting footage had been eliminated because it was considered too dangerous with world affairs in such a precarious state. Warner brothers have re-edited "Nazi Spy" putting back this previously censored footage and adding a new ending which brings the picture up to date.

Ed Wynn's Show To Open Here

The Perfect Fool and "The Funnies" should be dropping in on Boston for a pre-Broadway tryout around Labor Day—if they don't detour to Philadelphia.

Ed Wynn, who is writing the dialogue for the musical, assisted by Pat C. Flick, said the other day in New York that all will be ready to go into rehearsal in late July . . . Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal are doing the songs.

Wynn's supporting company will include James Pickens, and the dancing DeMarcos and, he hopes, Tony Martin, Betty Hutton, Walter Long and an unidentified European act.

The Theater Guild and Gilbert Miller will present Helen Hayes next season as Viola in "Twelfth Night," which will probably open out of town prior to its reception by New York subscribers as the second or third play in the Guild's subscription season . . . Miss Hayes last appeared with the Guild in Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland" six years ago . . . Mr. Miller sponsored her last two plays, "Victoria Regina" and "Ladies and Gentlemen."

• • •

Gertrude Lawrence, making her exclusive "strawhat" appearance of the season, will open the Cape Playhouse (Dennis) season on Monday evening, June 24, in Noel Coward's comedy success, "Private Lives" . . . Miss Lawrence has agreed to denote her salary and the Playhouse its entire profits to the Allied War Relief Fund, according to Francis Hait, president.

• • •

"Raiders Over London," a short subject produced with the cooperation of the British War Ministry and depicting the official precautions taken to protect enemy air raid-menaced London, may be seen on RKO-Boston screen through Wednesday . . . On the same bill are "It's a Date," the Deanna Durbin-starrer featuring Walter Pidgeon and Kay Francis, and "The Hidden Menace," with Gertrude Michael and Otto Kruger.

• • •

Joseph P. Longo, assistant to Joseph Di Pesa, Loew's publicity director in Boston, has been appointed publicity director for Loew's theaters in Cleveland . . . He commences his Cleveland duties today, his brother, Al Longo, succeeding him here . . . Oscar A. Doob, general advertising director for Loew's, made the appointment while here for the "Our Town" world premiere.

• • •

The North Shore Players will open their second season at the High School Theater, Marblehead, on Monday evening, July 1, with Ethel Barrymore in "The School For Scandal" . . . The first season was most successful, and the policy established last summer of augmenting the permanent company with weekly guest stars will prevail against this year . . . Beginning June 1, Helen Hoarle, New York publicity director, will be available to arrange subscription locations for the nine-week season.

CAGNEY, SHERIDAN, O'BRIEN CO-STAR IN 'TORRID ZONE'

Comedy-Drama At Met Thursday

In "Torrid Zone," Warners' new comedy-drama coming to the Metropolitan screen Decoration Day, James Cagney gets a reprieve from his inevitable prison-bar portrayals.

The screen's top tough-guy, though he is presently taking a holiday from death in the electric-chair, is still dishing out the punches, staccato repartee and occasional bullets but all in the spirit of good, clean fun.

His erstwhile co-star of "Angels With Dirty Faces," the compish Ann Sheridan, and Pat O'Brien, who trouped with him in the old stock company days and has appeared with him in pictures, are co-starred with the hard-socking redhead.

This teaming would seem to be a case of good judgment on the part of the Brothers Warner, a statement your screen reporter would not have been guilty of before seeing Miss Sheridan's really standout performance in "It All Came True."

The title, "Torrid Zone," naturally tips you off to the picture's locale—the tropics, specifically Puerto Aguilar. Miss Sheridan plays a cafe singer who likes the spunky plantation boss, Cagney. Helen Vinson, beautiful, discontented wife of another plantation boss, also is intrigued by him. O'Brien, as head man for a big fruit company, Puerto Aguilar big-shot and Cagney's immediate superior, has one of those roaring-barking jobs he can wrap around his little finger.

Others in the cast are the comic Andy Devine, George Tobias, George Reeves, Victor Kilian, John Ridgely, Grady and Sutton and many others. William Keighley directed. Richard Macauley and Jerry Wald did the original screen play.

Pops Program

Under the direction of Arthur Fiedler, the following program will be presented at the Pop concert in Symphony Hall tonight:

Wedding March, from "Le Coq d'Or" — Rimsky-Korsakov
Second Movement, "Unfinished" Symphony, in B minor — Schubert
Song Without Words — Tchaikovsky
"Madame Butterfly," Fantasia — Puccini
Overture to "The Merry Wives of Windsor" — Nicolai
Kammenoi Ostrow — Rubinstein
Bolero — Ravel
"1001 Nights," Waltzes — Strauss
Hora Staccato (Roumanian) — Dinicu-Heifetz
"Knightsbridge" (March) from London Suite — Eric Coates

THERE ARE four-alarm fireworks when these redheads meet in "Torrid Zone," which is due to ignite the Metropolitan screen Decoration Day. They are, of course, James Cagney and Ann Sheridan.

Globe Offers New Dances

Until a certain, much publicized motion picture makes its Decoration Day Debut in the Hub, the Girls — through the courtesy of starring Rose La Rose and that other dance sensation, Lillian Harrison—offers you the torrid zone.

Rose La Rose

La Rose is presenting her most daring dance creations and La Harrison is introducing to Boston her spicy Brazil Zomba dance than which there is none whicher, she alleges.

Fay Temple, and Diana Legay whom the press agent modestly describes as "gorgeously sensational," are other reasons for the Globe going tropical this week.

Tickets for Wednesday night's holiday eve midnight show are going like the well-known hot-cakes and it is suggested that reservations be made immediately. The current show terminates with Thursday night's final performance and radio amateur's contest time.

Bevy of Stars At Howard

Georgia Sothern, Burlesque's flame haired whirlwind, freezes on to the Old Howard stage this week as the star of her own revue, "Puss Puss."

Jean Mode

Not one to keep herself the challenge of competition, she has surrounded herself with a flock of charmers, including Jean Mode, pert Johnnie-topper, dancer, Ginger Waldron glamour-heroine from out of the West and Sahji, described as an octaroon sensation of New Orleans night clubs.

Fred Binder and Jack Rosen, crown team, head the comedy division. Assisting them are Pat Paige and James X. Francis.

Reservations may be made for the Memorial Day Eve midnight show on Wednesday night, beginning at 11:30, which is being given in addition to the regular Friday midnight show starting at the same time.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

OF ALL THINGS, an art exhibit has been added to the affairs going on in connection with the annual Memorial Day Horse Show in Dedham . . .

But don't be surprised . . . all the paintings are pertaining to horses or prominent horsemen and women and will provide appropriate diversion for those who stroll in and out of the Dedham Country and Polo Club during the day of the show . . .

The artist of these paintings is Edward L. Chase of Woodstock, N. Y., who will be the holiday house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Gardner of Needham . . . Local sportsmen will recognize many of the subjects of the portraits . . . For instance there's one of Mrs. Wesley Trimpe, the former Becky Lanier, M. F. H. of the Nantucket Harriers; a portrait of a champion model hunter owned by Mrs. Crompton Smith of Middleburg, Virginia, and a picture of three of Bella Baruch's Arabian steeds . . . There are also portraits of Gerald Webb following the hunt at Middleburg, Va., and one of Mrs. Amory Perkins riding one of her Virginia hunters . . .

CAUGHT unawares by the photographer as they departed from Emmanuel Church were T. Edmund Skinner, hiding behind his top hat, and his bride, Anne Mixter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Mixter of Brookline.

The big horse show ball on the holiday eve will be preceded by many cocktail parties . . . Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Clark of Dover will entertain for the most recent bridal couple in their family, Mr. and Mrs. George O. Clark, 2d . . . who recently returned from their honeymoon . . . Also starting the evening off in merry fashion at the Nat Clarks' will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. W. Farnsworth Loomis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dudley Clark, Jr., Joan Ellett and W. Hoffman Benjamin of New York . . .

Clara Jackson of Westwood has invited a group of friends for cocktails at her home . . . among them Rhoda Belknap, Edwin Jackson, Dorothy Storer, Janet Van Velzen, Archer Conant, Phyllis Russell, John H. Lewis, Donald Harding, John Fulham and Philip G. Downes . . . Still another party will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Austin Osgood of Westwood, who will entertain for their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. William Allen of East Greenwich, R. I. . . .

Andover Benefit for School

ANOTHER LARGE AFFAIR, given in the series of bridge parties for the building fund of the Boston School of Occupational Therapy, took place the other afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rodney W. Brown of Seven Pines, Andover . . . Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Charles D. Thompson, who assisted her in giving the party, are both members of the Boston Morning Musicales which support the school . . .

Table hostesses included Mrs. Dean Wayland, Mrs. William Rich, Mrs. Edmund Leland, Jr., Mrs. Harry Emmons, Mrs. Samuel Rockwell and Mrs. Harry Sutton . . . Mrs. Abbott Stevens and Mrs. James Guild were the pourers . . .

Plans are being made for open house at the Boston School of O. T., from June 5 to 7, under the direction of Mrs. John A. Greene . . .

CROSBY-CRONIN CEREMONY TUESDAY

Joining the ranks of June brides will be Lillian Cronin of Jamaica Plain whose wedding to Thomas Crosby of Jamaica Plain will take place tomorrow in St. Thomas Church.

Miss Cronin was graduated from Jamaica Plain High School and Emmanuel College. Mr. Crosby is a graduate of Boston College and Boston College Law School.

New Citizens

A couple of new citizens the census taker missed on his recent rounds were the little girls born within a week of each other to two popular socialite sisters, Mrs. Francis Smithers (Lee Marston) and Mrs. Donald Hanson (Barbara Marston).

Lee, whose home is in Reed Hook, N. J., will have her daughter christened Elizabeth, and Barbara and Don are calling their baby Marcia. The infants bring grandparent honors for the first time to Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Marston of Newton Center, and make "aunties" of Janet, Natalie and Ginny Marston.

Flowery Mood in Bags

By ANNICE BRINK

POSIE POCKETBOOKS are all in it with the flowery mood of spring and summer fashions . . . and they're still another way to accent your femininity.

Hopsackingltype fabric, in a loose, pouchy bag that will contain all your precious junk, comes in white or dark colors . . . and the clasp in each case is a pair of plastic flowers, realistic enough roses or gardenias.

A red rose accents a white bag . . . a white gardenia is so-chic on black . . . and some of the other pastels.

Again the patriotic theme occurs . . . a good looking white leather bag has a ribbon of red, white and blue running across the wide-mouthed clasp. It's a favorite summer spectator sports scheme, the tri-color.

A strawberry ice cream pastel accent for white sports frock is a bag and belt pair of the softest dull-finished kid. The belt is very wide, and has a couturier look which will do a lot for a $5.95 number.

Cecilian Guild To End Season

Mrs. C. A. Crowley and Mrs Joseph Fallon are co-chairmen of the members luncheon which will mark the closing of the business year of the Cecilian Guild. The chairmen have arranged to hold this annual event on Tuesday, June 4, at the Lighthouse in Cohasset.

Committee chairmen are being assisted by the president, Mrs. Thomas J. Kelly, and an active corps of workers consisting of Mrs. Arthur J. Conlon, Mrs. John B. Atkinson, Mrs. Gerald J. Culhane, Mrs. Joseph Rugor, Mrs. Joseph R. McCoole, Mrs. John F. Elston, Miss Ruth Bulger, Mrs. Francis A. Crotty, Mrs. Raymond J. Kenny, Mrs. Thomas Cavanagh, Mrs. Melvin B. Breath, Mrs. Philip E. A. Sheridan, Mrs. William Arthur Reilly and Mrs. Robert C. Stanton.

Radcliffe Group Meets

Mrs. Charles S. Bolster of Cambridge is chairman of a committee in charge of a get-together at Radcliffe this evening for parents and others interested in the two play groups for children which are run by Radcliffe students during the summer months.

This evening's affair is entitled "A Radcliffe Play School Preview," and will be held in Cabot Hall, Radcliffe dormitory.

Mrs. Leslie T. Pennington and Mrs. Albert A. Hornor are assisting Mrs. Bolster, and the speakers will include Miss Martha Taylor, Miss Nancy Roelker, Dr. Lendon Snedeker and Miss Elizabeth Cornish, head of the group of student guides.

VACATION AT BEVERLY

Miss Theodora Sedgwick is coming in June from Washington, D. C., to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Sedgwick of Long Hill, Beverly.

You Can Be Beautiful

Lotion Allows Gentle Tanning Or None

By ARLINE GOULD

THIS IS not for all you sun-children . . . who toast slowly and gloriously to an ideal golden tone . . . this is for the sufferers, who adore the beach, but who don't tan easily or perhaps at all . . . and who have no intention of swaddling up like mummies in the great out-of-doors.

"It's news of a cream lotion . . . a sunburn preventive for the white, sensitive skin, and for those who are determined to stay light and fair all summer, in spite of the fact that their skins invite the sun!

A new school of thought on suntan business has finally evolved out of what practically amounted to a mahogany craze . . . the best beauty authorities through the experience of their clients say that it's your age which should govern the amount of tanning you do!

Young skins are naturally equipped with enough lubricating elements to withstand the fashionable bronze tan . . . though they should go about it with care, to prevent bad after-effects

On the other hand, if you're not a youngster . . . be discreet about your doses of sun. You may have a nice golden glow, acquired at leisure, without damage to the facial tissues, especially if you lubricate as you go along. You will lubricate with night creams, and in the daytime with this "smooth tan" liquid cream, which keeps your skin on the delicate side.

If you'd like to learn all about this unusual liquid sunburn cream which governs your tanning, either shielding you completely, or allowing it to tan slowly without turning the skin to leather and inviting age-marks . . . phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, weekdays until five-thirty, except Saturday or the holiday; or write, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DELIGHTFUL to use . . . delightful in its results . . . a new liquid cream which was devised for the sensitive-skin type of sun bather . . . who wants to remain fair, or to keep her complexion youth by gentle, easy, lubricated tanning. Arline Gould tells about it today.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Monday, May 27

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—Interesting, colorful—but sometimes exasperating! You have plenty of talent, and if you aren't using it, it's a shame. Concentrate on at least one thing and aim to accomplish in that before you turn to those several other activities you like. An entirely different diversion as an avocation or hobby is advisable. Train today's child not to dissipate its energies and talents by engaging in too many endeavors at one time.

LUCKY NUMBER—Today's lucky number is 29

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is crimson.

Cheese Important Item

By MARTHA LEE

IS CHEESE an item on your regular bill of fare? How much cheese do you eat in a year?

Probably the answer to those questions will depend on where you live, for one thing, and where you and your parents were born. Americans eat about 5.7 pounds yearly, which is a small amount when compared with the 17.7 pounds eaten yearly by the Swiss citizen, 14.7 pounds the Hollander and 13.5 pounds by the Dane. A study of a cross-section of families, 3000 in number, in one large city of the United States revealed that only 37 per cent of the families surveyed were eating cheese at all.

There are many delicious dishes in which cheese can be used. Here are some suggestions:

CHEESE FONDUE

1½ cups milk
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
1 tsp. salt
Cayenne
2 cups (¾ pound) diced cheese
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Combine milk, bread crumbs and seasonings. Cook over low heat, stirring with a fork, until mixture is smooth and bubbling. Remove from heat, add cheese, and stir until well blended. Beat in unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in greased 2-quart casserole in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) until golden brown, 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

DELICATE CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 cup milk
¾ cup flour
2 cups (½ pound) grated cheese
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. paprika
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Stir slowly half the milk into the flour, mixing until smooth. Add remaining milk, and cook over medium heat until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add cheese and seasoning and stir until well blended. Beat in unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in greased 2-quart casserole in a moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 25 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

CHEESE CAKE

½ cup butter softened
1 tbsp. (1 oz.) zwieback, crushed
½ cup powdered sugar
4 eggs separated
1 cup sugar
4 tbsp. flour
1½ tbsp. grated onion rind
2 tbsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. vanilla
2 cups sour cream
1 lb. (2 cups) cottage cheese
[illegible]

Spread butter in bottom of 8-inch spring mold and sprinkle with crushed zwieback and powdered sugar and turn down to pack well. Beat egg yolks well, add sugar, flour, grated onion rind, lemon juice, and vanilla, stir in cream and mixture of cheese and flour rubbed through a fine sieve and beat well. Turn into prepared mold and sprinkle remaining crushed zwieback over top. Bake in very slow oven (250 deg. F.) for 1 hour; then turn off heat and leave cake 1 hour longer in oven. Serve as dessert. Makes one 8-inch cake of 6 to 8 servings.

Looking a Gift Horse In the Mouth

Graduation Hop

By Terry James

PEGGY CROSBY parked her car across from Grant Hall at West Point, kicked open the door and stamped across to meet her "drag." The night was soft and warm and the Hudson sparkled in the moonlight, but Peggy's mood was not so perfect as the night.

The Cast of Characters in "Graduation Hop"

TOM, a West Point Cadet.
PEGGY, who loves him—but pretends that she doesn't
SALLY, who doesn't love him—but pretends that she does.

She was furious. And with herself. That was what made it hard. If she had someone else to blame she could have a good fight and get it out of her system. But she had been warned.

Her brother had told her all about Tom. That he was engaged to a girl back in Iowa. And that though he liked to go to the hops, it would have to be with a girl who wouldn't mind wasting her time on a cadet who wasn't eligible.

So she had been picked because she was safe—because she had no desire to marry into the Army—certainly not because of her looks. She was a redhead, with perfect creamy skin, blue eyes and a lovely figure.

But what good were her eyes when Tom gazed into them and raved about how beautiful were the gray ones of his Sally. What good the red hair when Tom asked her confidentially if she didn't think that the prettiest kind was shiny brown.

A few months ago, this wouldn't have annoyed her at all. She would have thought it was fine to come up to The Point and have all the fun of going to the hops and football games without having to worry about anyone bothering her with romance. But that would have been before she crossed herself up by falling in love with someone who not only already was spoken for, but who also never had regarded her as anything but a friend.

THE LAST TIME

Well, she thought as she walked into Grant Hall, this was the last time she'd have to listen to Tom rave about Sally. Tomorrow Sally herself would arrive for Tom's graduation and Peggy could resign her guardianship.

Tom was waiting for her. He was tall with dark hair, and when he smiled at her and his brown eyes sparkled, Peggy's heart did a flip-flop. She'd had plenty of time, though, to learn to hide her true feelings and her greeting was properly casual and friendly.

Next time, she thought, she was going to get someone who didn't think of her as a sister. The only trouble was she didn't want it to be next time. She wanted Tom to tell her her eyes were nice and that her hair was the prettiest color.

It was just the kind of an evening she had known it would be. Tom would talk of nothing but Sally's arrival.

"Do you think you can sort of watch out for her, Peggy?" he asked. "She'll feel sort of alone and you've been up here so much you can kind of show her around when I'm not with her."

"Sure I'll do that," she answered. "Do you think she'd like to share a room with me at the Thayer?"

"That would be swell, Peggy. I know you'll like Sally. No one could help it. She'll like you, too.

Well, thought Peggy, that made everything dandy. Sally might even like her enough to ask her to be bridesmaid at their wedding and wouldn't that be nice? Wouldn't she love to stand up there and see Tom marry someone else. She wouldn't be surprised to find herself cracking under the strain and telling the minister she knew just cause why this couple shouldn't be united in holy matrimony.

It was funny though how her feelings changed when she met Sally the next day. She was everything Tom had said she was and more. After two hours with her, Peggy had decided that Sally was the girl she would have picked for Tom, if she hadn't fallen in love with him herself.

"Tom's spoken of you so much in his letters," Sally told her. "He's very fond of you."

"Oh, Tom and I are awfully good friends," Peggy answered, feeling like a Judas for no good reason. "He and my brother have gone through their four years together."

"Well, I hope you'll continue to be his friend and mine, too," said Sally earnestly. "And with your brother and Tom being stationed at the same Army post, I don't see why we all can't go on seeing each other."

She said things like that all the time. Peggy had been afraid she couldn't fool a woman about her feelings for Tom, but Sally seemed not to notice anything. She also insisted on Peggy and her drag being with them all the time

REALLY IN LOVE?

Tom, thought Peggy, would surely want to be alone with Sally some of the time, but he insisted on her joining them, too. So Tom and Sally and Peggy and whoever her drag happened to be covered The Point.

They went to parade, to the movies, to dances at the hotel and hops at Cullum Hall.

She was dancing with Tom the night before graduation when he said to her, "You like Sally a lot, don't you, Peggy?"

"I think she's the nicest girl I've ever known."

"Well, I'm going to ask you something that may sound funny, but it's terribly important. Do you think she's really in love with me?"

Well, the dear, silly boob, thought Peggy. As if any girl in her right mind wouldn't be in love with him.

"Of course, she's in love with you," she answered. "The trouble with you is you haven't had any time to see her alone. You see that you two get some time to talk tomorrow, and I don't want any invitations to join you. You'll find out you haven't anything to worry about."

"I just wanted to be sure she hadn't changed her mind. You know we haven't seen much of each other for about four years. I thought she might have met someone else. She wouldn't tell me about it if she thought it'd hurt me, but I thought she might have told you."

He was solemn all evening. Peggy guessed she hadn't convinced him.

"How about you?" he asked her as they were dancing. "You seem to be playing the field. I hope it doesn't mean that the Army's going to lose you. Your brother's told me you've said you'd never be able to stand the life, but I thought some strong-minded cadet might have made you change your mind."

"Oh, no," said Peggy, looking him right in the eye and lying in her teeth, "I haven't changed my mind."

So that was that, thought Peggy when the evening was finally over and she and Sally were back in their hotel room. She had fixed things nicely and she supposed she was a noble character, but it didn't do anything to help the lump in her throat. All she wanted was to turn off the lights and get into bed where she could cry quietly, but Sally wanted to talk.

"Peggy," she asked gravely, "do you think Tom's really in love with me?"

Peggy sat up straight in bed. If this kept up she would go nuts. It was bad enough to stand by and see the man she loved marry a girl she couldn't even have the satisfaction of hating. But to have to tell one of them that she was sure the other's feelings hadn't changed was too much.

"Of course, he's in love with you," she almost snapped.

"The reason I asked," sighed Sally, "is that I've met a boy at home that I like a lot. If I thought it wouldn't hurt Tom too much, I'd break our engagement. But if you're sure about Tom feeling the same way about me he always has I couldn't do that to him. Well, I guess I'll just have to forget about Jack."

TANGLED AFFECTIONS

Peggy could have cried. Everything was so mixed up and there was no way to straighten it out. Here she was bravely giving up the man she loved to a girl who didn't even want him. It was hard on Sally, too, and she'd grown awfully fond of Sally.

It was several hours after they'd said their dejected good nights that either of the girls fell asleep.

The next day was awful. Peggy didn't see anything of Tom or Sally all day. She went to graduation and breeded. She went to parade and moped. She not only had a terrible time herself, but also managed to depress everyone around her.

When she went back to the hotel to dress for the hop, she met Sally. But a radiant Sally.

"Did you have a nice day?" asked Peggy.

"Wonderful!"

Did you get everything straightened out?"

"Oh, yes, everything's marvelous."

That was all that seemed, she guessed. A little time alone to talk things over. Now everything was fine, and she could stop worrying. She could go to the hop and have a good time. Or at least she could make an effort to look as if she were having a good time.

She looked nice when she was finally dressed for the hop.

Tom told her she did when he cut in on her. That, she knew, would be due to his conference over his fixing things up with Sally. And when he took her out on the balcony, she thought it was to thank her for her part in the fixing.

That was why it was such a shock when he took her in his arms and kissed her. She was completely stunned. She couldn't say a word.

"Sally says you're in love with me," Tom announced calmly.

Peggy couldn't possibly speak.

"She's in love with some guy at home," he went on.

Peggy sensed dimly that he wasn't shattered by this knowledge.

"I guess I've been in love with you for months," he continued. "It was just that I had the idea I'm up around Sally. Then when I saw her again, I realized we were just friends and you were the girl I loved. There's only one thing I'm worried about. That's your saying you'd never marry into the Army."

"Well," Peggy finally managed, "if we're going to be married you might as well know I'm awfully low."

THE END

"Peggy," she asked gravely, "do you think Tom's really in love with me?"

HOW YOU CAN BORROW $100 IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $6.41 A MONTH

Do you want to get a cash loan quickly and simply? At Household Finance you can borrow $20 to $300 without endorsers or guarantors, if you can make regular monthly payments. And you needn't even leave your own home to apply for the money you need. You may repay your loan on the installment plan which best fits your own purse.

Choose your own payment plan

Suppose you need $100 and can conveniently repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Note that you may make very small payments if you wish. Note also that the sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Four monthly installments of $26.58 each, or a total of only $106.32, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. (Payments shown in the table include all charges.)

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you pay your loan ahead of time since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month. This rate is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

A RAIN-SOAKED group of baseball fans dropped into a downtown cafe following the Red Sox 7 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Yankees in the Sunday game.

"We ought to have gone fishing," said one of the group as he asked the waiter to bring him some hot soup.

"We wouldn't be any more wet if we had," said one of his companions. "Of course nobody should have been expected to play a ball game under such poor weather conditions.

"I like my baseball in big gobs, but I don't like to get drowned while I watch a game.

"I felt sorry for Tom Yawkey when the Saturday double-header was called off and when the Sunday game was played on a sloppy field and with the elements trying to stop it. I read in one of the newspapers where Yawkey merely shrugged his shoulders and smiled when it was necessary to call off Saturday's double-header. The game would have drawn 35,000 people with a box office count of $45,000.

"The weather conditions for the Sunday game cost Yawkey at least $25,000 more.

TOM YAWKEY

"I admire a fellow who can take the tough blows in sport without weeping, but don't you think Yawkey has received more than his share of punishment?

"With the Red Sox in first place and the Yanks picking up in speed following their escape from the American League cellar, Yawkey had the best attraction in baseball. The weather man then killed it."

* * *

Baseball More Slippery Than Eel

THE GROUP agreed the speaker was right. They forgot their own discomforts as they discussed the bad break Yawkey had received.

It was only as a result of the demands of 15,000 fans that it was decided to play the Sunday game. Under ordinary conditions the game would have been called off.

As usually happens in some cases, the Sox lost. Their pitchers could not control the ball which was more slippery than an eel.

At Suffolk Downs on Saturday Bruce Wetmore took time out from watching the races to remark on how the wretched weather had prevented Yawkey from making a well deserved profit.

"The Red Sox cut of the Saturday double-header would have been $25,000," and Wetmore. "Yawkey has been such a grand character that everybody wants to see him make money.

"I do not believe the Red Sox double-header would have hurt the attendance at the track with ideal weather. The games would have drawn 35,000 persons while we would have had 30,000 persons at Suffolk Downs, which is 10,000 more than we have under the poor weather conditions.

"Our crowds come from all parts of New England. We are getting a particularly large number of patrons from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont."

25 Cent Admission at North Randall

WITH SO MANY days off due to rain this year, the baseball writers have had plenty of opportunities to take in the races. Joe Cashman was among the baseball scribes at Suffolk Downs on Saturday, and he had his share of winners.

"While in Cleveland," said Joe, "I attended the races at the North Randall track. The admission charge is only 25 cents. There is mutuel betting as in New England.

"When you purchase a program at North Randall, you can buy another card for 10 cents which tests your skill as a handicapper. If anybody picks the entire card, he receives a minimum of $300 and he may get more if a great many of the 10 cent cards are sold.

"If nobody has all the winners during the week the money goes into a pool, and goes to the person with the best record as a handicapper on Saturday. In the event of ties, the money is split up. It is felt by the North Randall management that this sysem increases the attendance at the track. Nobody has yet charged it is a lottery.

North Randall, like Detroit, has gone in for twilight racing. There has been a pickup in racing interest in Cleveland and Detroit since twilight racing was adopted.

In New England, it has not been found necessary to get away from the regular hours of racing in order to get large crowds.

Under the Massachusetts law the final race must be over by 7 p. m.

There have been cases of night racing. There is little doubt but that a half mile track would prove a success if it could conduct night racing. The Massachusetts law would have to be changed to do this, and such a move would be certain to meet with strong opposition.

B'S MILLER SEEN HEADED TO CUBS FOR $100,000

TULSA, Okla., May 27—Shortstop Merullo of the Tulso club of the Texas League is headed for the Boston Bees in a deal that will find Eddie Miller, Bees' shortstop, going to the Chicago Cubs for $100,000.

Sources close to the local management stated today that the deal that will send Merullo to the Bees is virtually closed. It is expected that the last details of the switch will be worked out before the end of the week.

Merullo bats seventh and is rated as only a fair hitter. In the field, Merullo has displayed a world of class, ssa good throwing arm and is efficient in the execution of double plays.

Dick Bartell was secured by the Cubs from the Giants, but he failed to come up to expectations. This year Bartell is with the Tigers while Mattick, a youngster, has been playing short for the Cubs with only fair success.

It is felt that a shortstop like Miller would be an important factor in keeping the Cubs up with the lead leaguers.

It is understood the Cubs are willing to pay Miller $15,000 a year which would be an increase over the salary he is getting from the Bees.

Posedel Tries Again To Check Giants

By BILL GRIMES

After losing two more games in New York, the Bees returned home last night and today were to meet the Giants at National League Field. It will be the eighth tilt of the season between the Stengelmen and the Terrymen.

Manager Stengel planned to send Sailor Bill Posedel to the mound this afternoon. Posedel started Friday's night game in the Polo Grounds but he was on his way back to the Hotel Commodore before his mates were half-way through their evening chores. Bill was relieved in the second inning by George Barnicle, after Jo-Jo Moore, Bill Jurges and Al Glossop had pried him loose from his mourings with circuit drives.

Bill Lohrman, who has handcuffed the Bees on two previous occasions this season, was to be Manager Terry's selection. In fact, it would seem that Lohrman's retention by the Giants is for the sole purpose of beating the Bees.

Although they didn't have a chance in the night game on Friday, due to the fact that the Terrymen lost no time in getting to Bill Posedel the Bees did have an opportunity, and a good one, to chalk up their initial win over the Giants yesterday.

The Bees jumped on Prince Hal Schumacher for five hits before he was yanked with none out in the 3d round, and at the end of their half of that frame they were leading 5 to 0. Then, Burgess Whitehead nicked Nick Strincevich for a home run in the last of the 3d and the Giants picked up another tally when Babe Young homered in the 4th.

Strincevich wasn't able to get a Giant out in the 5th and his successor Al Piechota wasn't much more successful. And, before that inning was over Dick Coffman was on the hilltop for the Bees and Strincevich and Piechota were climbing into their civies and wondering if their mates would be able to retire Terrymen before the 6:15 from 125th st. pulled out for home.

Before the game was over Lefty Joe Sullivan and George Barnicle also saw service for the Bees.

Bees Quit Bradenton

The Boston Bees will not return to Bradenton, Florida for spring training next year, Sec. John Quinn announced this morning. The Bees management has been completely dissatisfied with the playing field and weather conditions at Bradenton this spring and decided to try a different spot next year.

Prexy Bob Quinn is negotiating with a number of Chamber of Commerce officials and expects to make announcement in a few days. He may abandon the South altogether and bring his club to the Southwest, presumably Texas.

Danning N. Y. Answer To McGraw's Prayer

By the Associated Press

Up there in the place all good baseball souls go, the old man must be dancing a jig these spring afternoons as he looks down on his New York Giants.

For, Harry the Hoss Danning, last of the "McGraw men" to arrive, is a rip-snorting bronco now.

Not only is Harry head man in the Giants' sudden surge toward the National League roof—they were only 2½ games out after a 13-8 decision over the Boston Bees yesterday—but he's the complete answer to the dream the Old Man (of course it's John McGraw) always had a presenting to Pa Knickerbocker's folks a classy Jewish ball player.

Harry hasn't yet picked all the splinters out of the seat of his pants from riding the bench for four years waiting for Sweet William Terry, who took over the reins from McGraw back in '32, to give him the "break."

At that, William was just about forced into calling on the six-foot 185-pounder in '37, what with Gus Mancuso showing signs of wear and tear then, and no other able bodied catcher around.

HITTING .391

Since William invited him to play, the Hoss has been coming along steadily. He's leading the league in batting now with a neat .391 and is out on front with 31 runs batted in. His total of seven homers—two of them in yesterday's affair accounting for four runs—is second only to Johnny Mize's mauling.

Hubbell is fading, Ott is no longer "Mr. Slugger" and Jojo Moore is a step or two slower in his sunfield patrolling, but the last player the old man hired before he called it a day is a "McGraw man" right down to his size 11's.

The only reason Danning didn't knock the Giants any nearer the National League's driver's seat yesterday was because both Brooklyn and the Reds won too. The chief development in the American League, meantime, saw the New York Yankees bounce out of the cellar up to a tie for sixth place

DODGERS STUMBLE

The Dodgers, blanked for eight innings, handed a hearth-ember to Kirby Higbe and The Phillies 2-1 in 10 innings. Higbe tossed a four-hitter but gave up the tying run in the ninth and Pee-Wee Reese broke up the ball game with his first big league homer in the 13th.

The Reds blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0—and they did it behind the one-hit elbowing of Oom Paul Derringer, who had lost three of his last four outings.

Bob Klinger turned in a six-hitter to nip the Chicago Cubs 3-2 on behalf of the Pittsburgh Pirates, thus giving the Bucs a two-game winning "streak" for the first time in more than a month.

Charley Keller clouted a homer and a double, sending in three runs and the Yanks had a 7-2 celebration at the expense of the league-leading Red Sox.

YANKEES MOVE UP

Since the A's dropped a 4-3 affair to Washington's Senators on Johnny Welaj's 10th inning homer—moving the Nats into fourth place—the Yanks moved up and Connie Mack's lads sank to the bottom of the loop.

Boston's setback sliced the Red Sox lead to a mere half a game over the Cleveland Indians, who split with the Browns. Left-hander Emil Bildilli and a five-run rally in one inning gave the Brownies first blood 5-3. Then left-hander Al Milnar and a five-run rally in one inning brought the Tribe into an even split with a 13-1 win in the nightcap. The Tigers and White Sox were rained out.

Fullerton Hurls For Navy Yard Against Saints

Schedule revisions necessitated by three days of rain last week will have Ray Coolidge's Carter's Clothiers appearing at Cleveland Circle tonight in one of five Boston Park League games. Carter's will play the last-place Boston Hellenics who will pitch Lefty Kenney.

Appearing for the first time in Dorchester, Artesani Club will name Barney Pallis to oppose the unbeaten Dick Casey Club. Casey will send his fire-ball specialist, Jab Jackowitz, to the hill to insure the continuance of the streak.

Joe McCarthy will make a special effort to take St. Alphonsus into camp at Barry tonight because his St. Catherines were nipped last week at Fens when his backstop Graham was disqualified, resulting in an error which tallied the Saints' winning run. The batting of Bill Dean and Bob Mason will be the Crosby Club hope when they engage Roslindale Town Club at Healy with Volk on the Townies' slab.

At South Boston, the Navy Yard Blues will sent their former big league hurler, Curt Fullerton, to the mound against the St. Augustines.

Steve Belloise Due to Outshine Brother Mike

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—If you should see a swarthy, husky young Italian-American riding in a subway train and busily engaged in knitting a girl's sweater or crocheting a bedspread, restrain that impulse to make a sneering wisecrack.

For the young man might be Steve Belloise who is being touted in ring circles today as the next welterweight or middleweight champion, depending on how fast he takes on poundage.

Steve is a younger brother of Mike, the former featherweight boss, and according to Mike, "a better fighter than I ever was."

NEVER IN AMATEURS

Steve never had an amateur fight in his life. He learned to box while working out with Brother Mike and while still in high school decided to give the pro game a whirl. That was only two years ago.

He was knocked out in his second start in a battle he was winning and since then has flattened most of his 29 opponents. Only last Friday he stiffened Vic Dellacurti in less than a round and that very tough welter had never before been flattened.

Tonight Steve takes on Sam Luftspring, welter champion of Canada, who is known to the trade as a "cutie" who has whipped some of the best boys in the land.

Unlike Brother Mike, Steve skips the bright light belt. He saves his money and already has bought a restaurant and installed Mike as manager.

WANTS MONEY BOUTS

At the moment, he is looking beyond Luftspring to shots at Al Davis, Ceferino Garcia and Henry Armstrong. Those three battles would put him on easy street financially.

Steve is a fast, shifty boxer and a deadly puncher with either hand. He is intelligent and, like many of our current crop of fighters, a good talker.

And like many another easygoing hombre he is a deadly vicious fighter once the gong sounds.

Despite his friendly ways outside the ring, we would warn you again to make no derogatory remarks in case you see him crocheting a bedspread for his mother which is his current masterpiece. He might resent it.

Season's Final

Angel, Casey Duel Tonight

The Angel, 275-pound grotesque looking mat freak, will defend his world's heavyweight championship against powerful Steve Casey of Ireland in a finish bout, best two falls out of three, under the direction of Paul Bowser at the Garden tonight.

The Angel recently became champion when he was awarded the final fall in a bout with Casey by Referee Gus Sonnenberg. Each wrestler had scored a toss, when Casey knocked Sonnenberg off his feet during a mixup in a neutral corner. The referee immediately disqualified Casey.

TRAINED BY SCULLING

Casey is the only wrestler to score a fall against The Angel since the latter came to this country from France. Steve has been training for the past week and is in good condition. As a part of his training routine, Casey worked out on the Charles River in a scull with Russell Codman, Boston millionaire sportsman and former Harvard sculling champion.

It is Casey's plan to force the issue tonight. He believes that The Angel will tire if he carries him along at a terrific clip.

The Angel will rely upon his bear hug to conquer Casey.

The fact The Angel consented to give Casey a return bout is proof of the confidence he has in his own ability to win.

LAST BOUT UNTIL FALL

Paul Bowser announced that tonight's title bout would be his last mat show until he opens his fall season.

The semi-final will find Gus Sonnenberg, former champion, opposing Marvin Westenberg.

In the preliminaries, Frank Judson will battle Eddie Newman, Frank Marconi will oppose Rudy Strongberg, Pedro Brazil will take on Les Ryan, while Jim Casey will mingle with Bob Russell.

Weymouth Races Draws 4 Champions

Four champions will be among a field of 30 already entered for Thursday's Memorial Day big car classic at the Weymouth Fair Grounds.

Doc Fredericks, Amsterdam, N. Y., holds the dirt track championship for 25 miles; Bob Gardner, Cohasset, is the New England champion; George Bouley, Waterbury, Ct., claims the Nutmeg state title and Gene Trinque of Mapleville, R. I., is champion of Little Rhody.

With a quartet of champions and the cream of drivers in the Eastern circuit, which includes New York, New Jersey, Philadelphia and Connecticut, the 20-lap feature is expected to provide an abundance of thrills.

N. E. GOLFERS SHOOT FOR OPEN BERTHS

Thirty-six of New England's leading golfers—26 pros and eight amateurs, were to tee off on the rain-drenched course at Belmont C. C. today to battle for six qualifying positions allotted New England in the national open golf championship which will be held at Cleveland, June 6 to 8.

The test was 36 holes of medal play, and the small field of amateurs was expected to give the pros plenty of annoying moments before the six places were alloted.

Foremost among the amateurs competing were Ted Bishop, Bobby Knowles, Holly Mandly and Bob Bungham.

Mandly is the New England amateur king, while Bingham, an Amherst student, holds the N. E. intercollegiate title.

Many Strings to Race In Bunker Hill 'Cap

Plans for Many Stings, the Le Mar Stock Farm's winner of the McLennan Memorial Handicap and the Widener Cup at Hialeah Park, call for the five-year-old son of Canaan to make his first Suffolk appearance in the $5000 Bunker Hill Handicap on June 17, at one mile.

Many Stings will then be shipped to Aqueduct for the Brooklyn Handicap on June 29, before being shipped back to the Downs to be pointed for the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap on July 17.

WILSON PICKS 7 OUT OF 8

Dave Wilson, New England's champion handicapper, had one of his greatest days at Suffolk Downs Saturday when he picked the winners of seven out of the eight races.

Dave Wilson

The sensational streak by Wilson included the following horses: Nancy V., $4.80; Jack-in-the-box, $6.80, making a daily double combination of $18.20; Many Flags, $5.40; Weekly Stipend, $4.20; Halcyon Boy, $52.60; Milk Punch, $5.60 and Miss L. P., $4.80.

Halcyon Boy was originally in the field with Sirocco, Wilson's top choice for the Commonwealth Handicap. Sirocco was a late scratch, but many of Dave's followers then played the other part of the original field. While Wilson liked Sirocco, those persons who played the original field number of 12 had cause for a celebration when the big race was over.

Jack-in-the-box was Wilson's best bet of the day and ran like a real good thing.

Mrs. L. P., which took the last race, was the top horse in Wilson's graded handicaps and also a special in Wilson's bird cage feature that appears exclusively in the Green Race Special of the Boston Evening American.

Wilson has hit a terrific pace since the Suffolk Downs meeting opened. Apart from his run of wins Saturday Dave came up with four winners on Thursday and with four on Wednesday.

Wilson's handicaps are an exclusive feature of the Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American. In the Green Race Special of the Boston Evening American, Wilson gives the last minute news from the track, and also a noon phone special.

Wilson Advises Turf Followers To Study Race Jockeys and Stables

By DAVE WILSON

In concluding this series, my last warning is that you will spare yourself a good deal of grief if you will bet only on those horses ridden by reputable jockeys and saddled by reputable trainers.

Few are psychic enough to forecast accurately what is in the minds of trainers and jockeys. This it is almost impossible to guess what the gypsy trainer or the rider with larceny in his heart is going to do with the horse.

WINNING JOCKEYS

A reputable rider is more apt to be in the good physical condition necessary to ride a winning race. He gets more mounts, no matter what anybody tells you to the contrary, because even the gyp trainer rides the reputable jockey when he is aiming at the purse instead of the price.

Don't be guided too much by reputation or the number of stake victories a rider has scored. Wayne Wright is probably one of the more famous riders in this country, but last winter at Hialeah he failed to ride many winners.

Try to select the outstanding jockeys doing the riding at the meeting you happen to be playing. Jockeys are like ball p'ayers and they have their slumps and winning streaks.

More good horses have made the reputations of good riders than riders have made the reputation of good horses. That goes for Earle Sande, too. Much of his fame is due to the fact that he rode the best of his time.

As for trainers, it won't take you long to spot those whose horses are first when they are the longest price on the board and last when they have been made the public choice.

Just as it is the case with jockeys, so, too, is it true of trainers. Few are worthy of handling the job they have at hand and seek to get a little the best of it by chicanery of one sort or another.

Most of them are bad conditioners and never know when they have a horse fit and ready, but insist on trying to get a little the best of it in price when a full-time job for them would be to get the horse ready to win at any price.

They are responsible for the form reversals which plague the racing officials, cause the public to lose confidence in the sport, and you to lose your money.

There are various ways in which a trainer can "stiffen" his horse when the price is not going to be satisfactory, but that is another story and may be taken up at a later date.

The trainer with a good reputation is shooting for the large slice of the purse every time he sends his horse out.

Some trainers race their horses into condition and it takes their horses two or three races to do their best. Others crack down first time out. Learn to study the methods of the reputable conditioners and you will have an advantage in your favor in looking for a winner.

Just what bearing training methods have on prepping a horse for a race was never more aptly illustrated than in the varying methods employed by George Conway and Tom Smith in getting War Admiral and Seabiscuit ready for the match race.

While Smith had become noted as a man who liked to get his horses into condition by giving them a great deal of galloping to leg them up for a test, he suddenly started bearing down on Seabiscuit in blistering speed trials.

SEABISCUIT BROKE FAST

On the other hand, Conway, who had been a trainer who liked to have a few speed trials in his horse, didn't give War Admiral as many sharp work-outs as it was confidently expected he would.

Consequently, when the two horses hooked up at Pimlico, Seabiscuit to the surprise and consternation of the turf experts, outbroke War Admiral and the Riddle star was under a handicap from the start.

In summing up our advice to potential handicappers who would beat the races, the most important things to remember are:

1—Regard your wagers as investments.

2—Follow the rules laid down.

3—Concentrate on winning the wager of the moment.

4—Never cease learning by observation and study.

ANDERSON LINE COACH OF BEARS

By the Associated Press

Week's Wash: Bob Pastor dashed to New York from Saratoga at 80 m.p.h. to donate blood for his mother-in-law, but she died before he arrived . . . Any day now you will hear that Jack Johnson of the Detroit Lions has been elevated to line coach to succeed the incomparable Hunk Anderson who has transferred to the Chicago Bears.

Sorry to have to report it, but it looks like the arm of old man Mose Grove is really dead this time . . . Last two boxing shows in the Garden saw two long shots winning titles—Lew Jenkins and Ken Overlin. So what? Well, an ex-soldier won the lightweight crown and an ex-sailor copped the middleweight laurels. Looks like Uncle Sam is all set.

BROADWAY BEAT

Night baseball in Manhattan was a flop—only 20,000 odd out . . . The grapevine says one of the conditions of the Joe Gould-Mike Jacobs settlement was that Gould shortly will go into the 20th Century as matchmaker.

Melio Bettina, the ex-light heavy king (New York-California edition) starts his heavyweight campaign vs. Al McCoy in Beantown June 7 . . . Joe Leone, who operates one of the best spaghetti and ravioli eateries on B'way, is opening a branch in Hollywood . . . Frankie Crosetti seems definitely on his way out as a Yankee.

"THE YANKS ARE COMING"

I think before the summer's done
McCarthy's going to have his fun,
And come July we'll hear a humming
And wake to find the Yankees coming.

WILLIAM MEYER,
New Orleans.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Bucky Walters always eats liver and bacon for breakfast on the days he pitches . . . Ed "Strangler" Lewis, who already owns a restaurant in Glendale, Cal., will open a half million-dollar boxing and wrestling emporium there in the fall.

Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland shortstop is in demand as a basketball official, but the club has offered him considerably more than he'll make to stay off the hardwood courts . . . Gamblers along the Great White Way have raised the Boston Red Sox to a parity with the Yankees—but are overlooking Cleveland . . . Mel Ott, who has hit more homers than any other National Leaguer, is 102 behind Jimmy Foxx—373 against 475.

MAN-OF-THE-WEEK

We nominate Lon Parks, 20, 5 foot 5, 125 pounds, of the Shaker Ridge Club, Schenectady, N. Y. . . . So far this year he has won three one-day, 18-hole medal tourneys of the Eastern N. Y. Golf Ass'n. And is even par . . . Yep, only three tourneys have been played and he's won 'em all.

SKID MAKES EX-GIANT INTO REAL SLUGGER

One explanation for the thrust that promises to carry the Newark Bears into their usual position in the thick of the International League pennant race is a sudden long-distance hitting spurt on the part of Alex Kampouris, veteran second sacker, who came down from the Giants this season.

In his National League days Alex was no great shakes as a clouter, but he's making up for it now and his teammates are following his example.

Mainly by long range clouting they have won five of their last six games to climb above the .500 mark, and now they're only 4½ games behind the League-leading Rochester Red Wings.

Kampouris belted his sixth and seventh home runs of the season in yesterday's opener against Syracuse to lead the way to a 7-5 victory. It was the second straight game in which he had hit for the circuit twice.

After seeing how to do the trick, Henry Majeski came through with a ninth-inning homer with the bases empty and Bud Metheny hit another with two aboard to win the game.

RED SOX, ATHLETIC GAME OFF, RAIN

The Red Sox-Athletics game, scheduled this afternoon, was postponed because of rain. The teams play a night game tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA, May 27—Long Bill Rutland, Red Sox rookie, whose name has yet to appear in a box score this year, was to make his 1940 and major league debut this afternoon when the league leaders face the cellar dwelling Athletics.

The veteran pitchers having let him down on the recent western trip, Joe Cronin is going to depend on the younger members of his staff from here in, he announced.

Herb Hash started yesterday's game against the Yanks in Boston, and while he didn't finish, he pitched well enough to warrant another starting job soon.

The Yanks won by a 7-2 margin but when Hash left the game the count was 3-1 in the Yanks favor, and they had got only five hits off the loquacious Virginian in the 6 2-3 innings he worked.

A'S PITCHERS SAG

In addition, he fielded his position as it hasn't been fielded like a Sox pitcher since George (Goose-Egg) Foster.

Against Butland today Connie Mack promised to pit Nelson Potter.

It seemed a good spot for young Butland, for the A's haven't been doing too well of late.

Their pitching has sagged, and if the Sox can hit behind Butland as they have behind the veterans, the kid ought to do all right.

Butland won 19 games for Minneapolis a year ago, and has a side-wheeler delivery which is poison to right-handers. Can he come through with a good game? The Sox starting quartet hereafter might be Hash, Harris, Dickman and Butland, in place of veterans like Grove, Ostermueller, Gaiehouse and Wilson.

17 TWIN BILLS AHEAD

The Sox were eager to get the Boston game in. They have 17 doubleheaders piled up, and with their pitching so unsettled, they are anxious to get in every game they can to prevent the list from getting larger.

It had rained all week, and the outfield was in wretched condition. However, some 15,000 fans braved the rain, and the Sox decided to play even though the Yanks had already packed and were hoping to get the 3 p. m. train.

Monte Pearson pitched for the Yanks, and was his old World Series self. He complained of a stomach ache before the game, so the Sox knew they were in for a licking. When Monte is sick, which seems to be all the time, he pitches his best.

DOM CAME THROUGH

He held the Sox to one run in seven innings, then left the game because of illness.

In the meantime the Yanks were pecking away at the Sox pitchers, Charlie Keller leading the attack with a home run and double.

For the Sox, Ted Williams hit his fourth home run of the season in the Sox eighth.

Dom DiMaggio made one of his infrequent appearances for the Sox in the ninth as a pinch hitter for Mickey Harris and came through with a double.

Cornell Proves Yale Better Than Harvard

The finish of the Eastern "sprint" rowing season did a lot to clarify the situation, according to the Associated Press, and now you can count at least three things as being pretty certain.

They are: (1) that Wisconsin won't be a threat at Poughkeepsie this year; (2) that Cornell, clean-cut winner of the East's short-distance rowing title should be able to give Washington and California a real tussle in the four-mile pull on the Hudson, and (3) that Harvard won't have an easy time in its duel with Yale at New London.

There wasn't much prospect of a Wisconsin threat anyway, for the Badgers, with no opposition in their home territory can't get the experience in competition that they need to meet the East and Far West on even terms. They had their first real trial at Pittsburgh Saturday in the Allegheny Regatta and were beaten by a length by a Pennsylvania crew that had not been at all impressive in its other races this spring.

Wisconsin went on to row again at Detroit yesterday and had little trouble defeating the Detroit boat club eight by 5½ lengths over a mile course. The results helped to show what they're up against. They practice on "dead" lake water; at Pittsburgh, with a strong current behind them, Penn rowed a mile and five sixteenths in 5:25 4-5 with the Badgers not far behind. Yesterday their mile time on the choppy Detroit river was 5:45. Conditions at Poughkeepsie again will be different.

Cornell not only clinched the season's sprint supremacy by handing Harvard's favored crew a good beating, but it cast new light on the prospects for both the Poughkeepsie and New London regattas. The Big Red crew didn't even have to hit up a fast stroke to beat Harvard by a length and a half. That indicates the kind of power that will count heavily in a long race.

DAVE WILSON would have "swept the card" if Eight and Six had performed according to the dope on Saturday . . . The King's seven out of eight winners implied a bet on the field in the race won by "Halcyon Boy," as Sirocco, which was a late scratch, had been coupled in the betting with the winner . . . PETS OPEN SEASON TOMORROW

Boston's second season of indoor softball will be opened tomorrow night at the Garden, where the champion Olympets clash with the Fisk Girls of Springfield in the feature game of the twin bill.

In the other game, Ben Levias, Totem Pole outfit from Norumbega Park will face the Worcester Girls.

The Pets seem ready for a fine season. News that Helen Johnston would return to the club has been received with acclaim.

Last year, during her short stay here, Helen helped the newly formed club to get away to a fine start. It was she who pitched the Pets to their first victory—against New York Roverettes.

The Pets defeated the Fisk Girls twice last year. Previously the upstaters had things much their own way in this section. Now a heated rivalry has sprung up between the clubs, and the Fisk girls will be gunning for revenge tomorrow.

Joe DiMaggio 'Golden Laurel' Winner of '39

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees' outfielder, has been selected as winner of the "Golden Laurel" award of the American Academy of Sport as the outstanding performer in the sport world during 1939. He will receive the prize, a gold medallion, at the World's Fair today.

DiMaggio was chosen by a poll of 145 outstanding figures in various branches of sport. He received 27 first-place votes to 19 for Joe Burk of Bridgeville, N. J., national sculling champion.

Blozis Sure to Break IC4A Shot Record

By SAM BROGNA

The best collection of collegiate track performers assembled in the past decade will be on hand this coming Friday and Saturday at the Harvard Stadium where the 64th annual IC 4-A Outdoor Track and Field championships will be held, minus the defending champions, Southern California.

This set-to is the grand finale to a remarkable track and field season. Had it not been for the present conditions in Europe, the cream of this intercollegiate track and field meet would have formed the backbone for the 1940 Olympic games in Finland which have been called off.

Southern California's Trojans will be unable to defend their laurels which they so decisively won last year with an unprecedented total of 71½ points because of examinations. Their absence clearly points to a close a team fight as there has been in a decade.

STARS REPRESENT COAST

Along with the Trojans who will be missing is Stanford, the other Pacific Coast's top team which also was in the midst of examinations. However, the University of California with a crack seven man team will uphold that side of the coast.

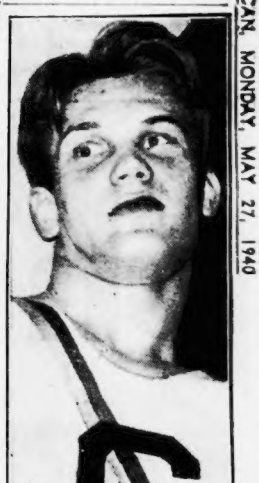
Battling with the University of California for the coveted crown will be such outstanding track teams as the well balanced squad from the University of Pittsburgh which placed second last year and Penn State with the heralded Nick Drimanic and Barney Ewell.

While this bitter struggle for the team title is going on, a large number of athletes will be out to achieve individual fame.

Georgetown will introduce for the first time in these parts, Alfred C. Blozis, its giant sophomore who stands 6 feet 4 inches in height and weighs 240 pounds.

HERE TO CRACK RECORD

This Atlas who bids fair to be one of the greatest weight men ever developed in America, should crack the meet, American and perhaps the world record in both the shotput and the discus throw. He now holds the world indoor 16-pound shotput record of 55 feet, 6 inches and already has equaled this mark in outdoor competition.



AL BLOZIS

Then, there's Barney Ewell from Penn who is the national 200-meter champion and holder of the world's indoor record for the 50-yard dash. He is rated another Jesse Owens.

Barney, who is also a sophomore, will be favored to win the 200 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump as well.

Famous Hair Specialist Is Consulted By Many Celebrities

BOSTON, May 26 (J.W.)—John E. Warner returned from New York via American Airlines, where he was consulted by a nationally known celebrity who is anxious to retain his hair. The celebrities who have consulted John E. Warner include Charlie Chase, Russ Morgan, Ben Blue, Gene Krupa, Harry James, Jack Pearl, Hal Le Roy, Betty Grable, Helen Twelvetrees, and a host of others. John E. Warner is recognized as the foremost hair and scalp specialist of today because his method of treatment consistently produces results. In fact, no case is ever accepted for treatment by John E. Warner unless beneficial results are reasonably certain. Business and the professions today place a high premium on personal appearance, and if you are losing your hair you should, in your own best interests, find out if John E. Warner can help you. If your hair and scalp show the symptoms of approaching baldness such as dandruff, itchy or oily scalp, and excessive falling hair, you can have a private scalp examination by John E. Warner without charge or obligation. His offices are conveniently located on the 7th floor, 515 Washington St., opp. R. H. White's, near the corner of West St. Phone Hub. 1705. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. daily. Saturdays 10 A. M. to 6 P. M. There is a separate department for women. Fees for treatment are very moderate. Adv.

Lead Nation In Prayer

As his whole country observes national day of prayer requested by him to help brighten the gloomy days descended upon Britain, King George arrives at Westminster Abbey with Queen Elizabeth to attend services . . . and are welcomed by Dr. Paul Labilliere, dean of the cathedral. Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, Prime Minister Churchill and a majority of the British cabinet were among those who attended.
